Bruno Residents Concerned Over County Jail Situation

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The State Board of Corrections is expected to take several weeks before arriving at any recommendations affecting the huge yellow powder keg that is San Francisco County's prison in San Bruno.

A seven-member team completed a three-day inspection of the facility last week to determine if complaints revolving around the security system, food and rehabilitation programs were justified.

Recently, several homeowners in the area expressed the fear that escaping inmates might harm them. The residents charged the prison's security system was totally inadequate and that the facility was a potential "powder keg."

Sheriff Matt Carberry, head of San Francisco's jails, told The Post, "I just don't see how the jail—which does not house either felons or pre-sentence inmates—could endanger the surrounding community.

"Weve handled more than 65,000 persons in the past ten years (since Carberry has been sheriff) and have averaged only two escape attempts per year," Carberry pointed out. "Not one of these escapees have bothered the people around here."

The sheriff said he welcomed the Board's inspection, explaining, "While I really don't know exactly what the Board will recommend, I do know they think we are doing a good job—all things considered."

"There isn't a jail in the world that does not have problems regarding security, but we have taken certain precautions to eliminate any threat to this security here in San Bruno," Carberry said.

Keys are the secret, according to Carberry.

"No one person has a key to all the doors," he said. "For instance, if a guard has the keys for an inside tier door he would not have the keys to any exit doors. Even I don't have a key."

But a former inmate of the prison, who desires to remain anonymous, said the minimum security facility "is a powder keg with a short fuse."

The man disagreed with Carberry and said felon types were housed in the prison.

"At least 150 prisoners are what I'd call 'hardcore' and should be in San Quentin. It's not Sheriff Carberry's fault they're at San Bruno. The court probably sends them there to prevent overcrowding the state prisons. Carberry's job is to lock them up," the man said.

The Pacific Heights Association—consisting of local housewives—recently toured the facility and came away "shocked, disgusted and a little frightened," Mrs. Carolyn Livingod, vice president of the association, said.

The association has since bombarded various officials with letters demanding measures be taken to immediately improve the security system and rehabilitation programs.

Trustees Agree To Professional Aid In Boundary Study

An Angry Protest Lodged

Jefferson Union High School District Trustees Monday night agreed to move ahead with a proposal to seek professional assistance in a study of school attendance boundaries.

The trustees' determination came in the face of an angry charge by David Babakan of Daly City that to have anyone but involved citizens conduct the study would be to "abdicate their responsibility to paid hirelings."

Babakan was joined in his protests by a somewhat more subdued Mrs. Annabelle Pierce, who volunteered to go to P-TA groups in an effort to find the representative boundary committee members the board has been unable to recruit.

Both claimed that outsiders could not properly represent the views of the parents of children who would be affected by boundary changes.

Superintendent Edward Morgan, who had been asked by the board to summarize their individual feelings on the question, said he had found "good reception" to the idea that the board take leadership of the study. And Morgan added that reaction was "also favorable" to the suggestion that colleges and universities conduct the study, to provide unbiased information and statistics which would be free of local feelings and emotions.

Puddle of Water Suspected Cause Of Auto Accident

A puddle of water was apparently responsible for causing a one-car crash in which two youths were injured, one seriously, in South San Francisco Monday afternoon.

Police said a car driven by 19-year-old Russell E. Christoff, 1297 Pershing Way, San Mateo, skidded out of control as it hit wet pavement on South Airport Boulevard near Second Lane.

Christoff, a College of San Mateo student, was southbound at the time; police said it appeared that he had not been exceeding the speed limit.

The car skidded across the highway, "climbed" a 12-inch-high divider barrier, wrapped itself around a PG&E light pole, then bounced into the oncoming traffic lanes.

Christoff's passenger, 18-year-old Edward Myers of 519 Lake Boulevard, Redwood City, was thrown from the car by the impact.

He was rushed to Peninsula Hospital where his condition was listed as "satisfactory" with head injuries.

Officers said Christoff complained of pains, but refused treatment at the hospital.

Helicopter Airlifts Fall Victim

Pacifica Boy Fractures Leg

A Coast Guard helicopter rescue team was called to the aid of a 12-year-old Pacifica boy who tumbled off a steep cliff near Mussel Rock and broke his right leg this week.

William Gardener, of 724 Lockhaven Drive, was descending the cliff to the beach where he was found after the accident, according to the youth's father.

"William often went fishing below the cliff, and had climbed there many times," Gardner told The Times.

The elder Gardner said the "unfortunate accident of my boy" should not be reason for roping off the beach."

"I don't think the area is excessively dangerous. It's up to us grownups to teach our children the hazards involved in these things," he said.

Because of the inaccessible terrain, Daly City police had to call in the helicopter to airlift the boy to San Francisco Public Health Hospital for emergency treatment.

"I didn't have the time to thank and commend the helicopter crew and police for their efforts on my son's behalf," Gardner said.

"I was amazed at the teamwork displayed during the rescue," he added.

'Satisfaction' At Highway Meeting

City officials and community leaders from three North County cities met with the State Highway Commission in Sacramento last Wednesday to press for early construction of several important projects.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli of South San Francisco said later, "It looks like we're getting some satisfaction."

South San Francisco was joined by San Bruno and Pacifica, in a joint plea for projects in the three cities.

A fourth city—Daly City—was not present, although Mayor Albert Polonsky had earlier pledged his support for the mutual push for road improvements in the North County.

Foremost among these are the widening of El Camino Real to six lanes through South San Francisco, and construction of Route 186, the freeway which would connect Pacifica's Vallemar section with the Bayshore Freeway in San Bruno.

Bertucelli said the solid front presented by the three cities apparently paid off; earlier individual efforts had failed to produce any action by the commission.

"We told them of our needs," said Bertucelli; "They sat there and listened."

Mayor Harland Minshew of Pacific agreed that the encounter seemed encouraging. It's not so much the fact that they listened as the way they listened, he said.

While the commissioners are ordinarily noncommittal, Min-

Council Resolution For 'Dream Girl'

"Blondes are always very much preferred," said Daly City Mayor Albert Polonsky.

His Honor's version of the familiar adage about what gentlemen prefer pertained to pretty Vivian Rieger, Miss Daly City of 1966.

The city council had just finished passing a resolution complimenting and commending Miss Daly City on her selection last week as Miss Fiesta Dream Girl, at the San Mateo County Fair.

"We are very proud," said Mayor Polonsky, and he congratulated the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce on its handling of the local contest.

Turning from beauty to business, councilmen reappointed two planning commissioners to new four-year terms on the volunteer advisory body. Anthony Masini and McRobert Stewart won the praise of the council, as did their three fellow commissioners. Their painstaking volunteer service, said Mayor Polonsky, is "strictly a labor of love."

In other business at the brief council session, a resolution officially granting permits for operation of two ambulances within Daly City to King and American Ambulance Company was passed; it formally states the policy set by councilmen two weeks ago.

Approval was given to an agreement with Southern Pacific, to provide an easement for a water pipeline which will cross the railroad's right of way.

Permission was also given to James E. Donahue, Inc., for a used car lot adjacent to a new car dealership at 6222 Mission Street.

Youth Out, But Canine In Custody

A 17-year-old South San Francisco youth arrested Monday night on suspicion of being under the influence of alcohol was free today, but his canine companion is still in custody.

Officer Gary Hopper, while patroling his beat last night, noticed a boy slumped over the steering wheel of a car, with a large dog sitting beside him.

Questioning of the youth revealed he had been drinking. And officer Hopper decided to take him to the police station.

As officer Hopper "guided" the boy into the police car, his dog jumped in beside him. And refused to leave.

Officer Hopper told his superiors the dog was exceptionally well behaved—until he tried to get into the police car for the trip to the station.

Amidst a barrage of barks, growls, snaps and clawing, Officer Hopper decided discretion indeed was the better part of valor and beat a hasty retreat to a nearby telephone.

A hurried phone call brought an S.P.C.A. official who was able with "special training" to subdue the overly protective canine and place him in "protective custody."

Gust, Arrested On Airliner, Denies Charge of Assault

City Manager's Charges Stand

The San Bruno City Council Monday night supported City Manager Gerald Vergeer's dismissal of Douglas Dawkins, former assistant recreation superintendent.

An appeal of the action taken earlier by the city's Personnel Board of Review was heard by the council at a special meeting two weeks ago.

At that time, the council accepted arguments from both sides and said a decision would be made at the next council meeting.

Of the 11 charges listed against Dawkins, the board struck four and accepted the remaining seven as justification for dismissal from his post.

Dawkins' attorney, George Corey, said the matter was "being carefully studied" in the light of the council's recent action.

'Case Of Mistaken Identity'

NICK GUST
. . . Denies Role

Pacifica's vice mayor, Nick Gust, arrested last week and charged with creating a disturbance aboard an airliner from Las Vegas, this week further denied his involvement in the incident.

Gust, following his arrest by sheriff's deputies when the airliner landed at San Francisco International Airport, told a Times-Post reporter that he had instructed his attorney, Thomas Bocci, to sue the carrier, Western Air Lines, for a sum as yet undetermined.

In a later news release, Gust explained that he and his wife and another couple had spent three days in Las Vegas. It was on the return trip that he allegedly assaulted a woman passenger and threatened her husband.

Gust attributed the incident to a case of "mistaken identity made by the airline stewardess, who confused my actions with that of another passenger."

He said the plane was "fully loaded and most everyone was in a friendly mood . . . I was sober, as were my friends, but very happy to be returning home."

Gust explained, "After boarding the plane, there was an incident involving an alleged assault upon a woman passenger, in which I as not involved.

"She claimed that another passenger had struck her on the head. This all took place several rows behind me," the councilman declared.

He continued, "The woman's husband threatened the passenger for striking his wife, and lodged a complaint with the stewardess. The passenger involved in the incident then

An Invitation To Name School

Anyone who has ever hankered to name a school now has a chance.

An invitation, in fact.

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District Monday night considered a continuing question—what to name the district's new continuation high school.

And, in the absence of a suitable name, they took the only logical action.

They continued the matter.

The continuation school will be located on the site of the Thornton Elementary School, and some have suggested simply calling it the Thornton High School.

Other area names have also been dropped—Lake Merced, San Bruno Mountain, etc. But the board members showed little enthusiasm.

Names of people who have given outstanding service to the district were considered, said Superintendent Ed Morgan, but were rejected because of possible family disapproval.

So the board stayed a decision one more week, until its meeting of August 1.

By then, the continuation school will have to be named, to allow purchase of such essentials as rubber stamps and all of the other supplies which will have to bear the school's name when the doors open this fall.

Time is running out.

Anyone who missed out on such previous contests as Ford Motor Company's quest to changed seats, and in so doing, came forward and sat next to me, I being seated in the center seat of a three-seat row."

Gust added that he had "two cups of coffee while on flight, and had nothing to drink of an alcoholic nature."

Apparently, he said, the stewardess reported the incident to the plane's captain.

During the flight, Gust pointed out, "the stewardess sought out the name of the passenger to the inside of me. I informed her that I would like also to have his name and address and was promptly told to shut up."

Gust said he thought the stewardess "simply panicked" and in so doing "compounded the problem."

Explaining the events leading to his arrest more fully, Gust said:

"As a result of the earlier threats made by the husband of the complaining witness to do battle with the passenger responsible for the alleged assault, a report was radioed in to the sheriff's office . . ."

Three deputies, he said, boarded the plane upon its arrival at San Francisco International.

"The stewardess pointed in my direction," Gust stated, "and the officers, without inquiring further to ascertain the facts of the matter, arrested me, charging that I was creating a disturbance.

"Several passengers were eyewitnesses to the incident and have volunteered to come forward and testify in court that I was the innocent victim of mistaken identity; they will further testify that, excepting for the confused and inexperienced airline stewardess, there would not have followed either arrest or this unfavorable publicity."

Gust declared his innocence "of any wrongdoing and I am satisfied that the charges will never meet the scrutiny of a court."

He said, "I regret very much that the publicity of this incident should reflect on the City of Pacifica. To my constituents and to my fellow councilmen, I extend my sincere apology that I should in any way be responsible for the publicity attending my office or the City of Pacifica."

The stewardess was Pat Linn of Millbrae.

Gust earlier had declared that "all charges against me are false and untrue" and that, "since an airline is involved, I have directed my attorney to file a complaint with the Civil Aeronautics Board of the federal government."

'She Has Stuff Queens Made Of'

The hospital room door opened and in came Vivian, carrying that big bouquet of American Beauty roses, the shining trophy and her crown.

They were presents for her Mom.

Her mother, who recently underwent surgery, hugged her 17-year-old Fiesta Dream Girl tight.

And everyone had a good cry — and a great time as they sat on the edge of the bed and told about the unbelieveable events of the night before.

The scene took place last Friday at Children's Hospital in San Francisco where San Mateo County's Miss Fiesta Dream Girl of 1966—Vivian Reiger—paid her first official visit.

Vivian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reiger of 506 Higate Avenue, Daly City, was chosen as the winner of the contest held last Thursday at the Fairgrounds in San Mateo. The competition provided by 11 other beauties was tough — so tough as a matter of fact that the judges set a time record reaching a decision in selecting Miss Daly City.

Eighty per cent of the contest was judged on beauty.

Vivian's winning qualifications include shoulder-length soft blonde hair, blue eyes, a weight of 127 pounds perfectly distributed over a height of five feet, eight inches, and the vital dimensions are 36-24-36.

Last night it was too much for Vivian. "I just couldn't believe it at all, she said—I never dreamed I would get it . . . The other girls were so beautiful I just couldn't keep from bursting into tears—the shock was just too much!" she said today.

She added, "I didn't think I had a chance at all last night . . . I thought I did so poorly during the interview with Mr. (Paul) Speegle, that when they did announce me as the winner, I was honestly shocked!"

And she proved she's of the stuff that queens are made of. She didn't even grumble when her 21-year-old sister Carolyn, who got her into the beauty contests, dragged her out of bed.

Firemen at D.C. Have Busy Day

Daly City firemen are busy washing down hoses and polishing up equipment today, and they'll be at it for several days to come.

The work is the result of an extraordinary busy day Monday, in which crews answered 13 calls in less than ten hours.

It all began at 9:08 a.m. with a false alarm at Southgate Avenue opposite Maywood. A blaze in a large rubbish bin caused the second call, sending firemen to the St. Francis Shopping Center at 9:42.

A two-alarm blaze at noon caused the most damage. Flames and a mild explosion heavily damaged a kitchen, dining room and hallway at the apartment of Basil Denham, 62 Como Avenue, and smoke and soot spread through the rest of the apartment.

The four-unit building is owned by A. E. Banfield; none of the other apartments were damaged.

Fire officials said the fire started when a half-gallon plastic bleach jug filled with gasoline was knocked from a kitchen counter. Its contents spread across the floor, and fumes were apparently ignited by the pilot light of either the range or water heater.

The concussion blew out windows, and the entire kitchen was engulfed in flames.

Firemen said neither of the Denham's two sons was injured; their parents were at work at the time. One of the boys had reportedly brought the fluid into the house to clean his hands after working on an automobile, investigators said.

Damage to the building was estimated at $3,000, with loss of furnishings set at another $500.

The afternoon got progressively busier.

At 2:01, firemen with a resuscitator answered a call for help from St. Francis Boulevard.

The second false alarm of the day came in 27 minutes later, from Wellington and Mission Streets, and the third 12 minutes after that across town at Westmoor and Morningside Drive.

Half an hour later two grass fires broke out. One at St. Francis and Clarinada burned about half an acre. The second, at Crocker and Bellevue Avenues, was attributed to two boys playing with leftover illegal fireworks —specifically, a cherry bomb.

Firemen barely had time to answer another false alarm, at Northgate and Westmont, when two more grass fires were reported. Within four minutes of each other, blazes at Avalon and Westmoor and in the 100 block of Santa Barbara Drive were reported. Neither burned much grass, and both were quickly extinguished.

Satisfaction at Highway Meeting, Officials Say

shew said, "Yesterday it was unique in the fact that the commission got to talking, and both the division engineers were also talking and asking questions."

"I got the impression that they are going to start looking for funds," Minshew added, at least for the South San Francisco project.

"It looks as though we'll get some action on El Camino," Bertucelli said.

San Bruno Mayor Karney Barberian said he found the meeting "more than encouraging."

"This is the most fruitful result yet," he said, "on a subject that's pretty hard to pin down."

He referred to the commission's declaration of dates for the Route 186 freeway project. The $14 million section from Bayshore to Skyline Boulevard would be started in 1971-72, Barberian said the commission told him; the $10.5 million section from Skyline to Route 1 in Pacific would be begun between 1972 and 1975.

While the dates are distant, Barberian said, at least the commission made them definite.

However, Minshew declared, "We're not too happy with this situation . . . we're probably going to be back up there with more presentations to attempt to speed Route 186."

Both Barberian and Minshew praised Assemblyman Leo Ryan and State Senator Richard Dolwig for their efforts on behalf of the North County cities.

The work of the legislators, plus the impact of four mayors representing 200,000 people, should have an effect on the commission's actions, Minshew indicated.

The joint approach makes sense, he said, because "the projects are all important, and they're all related."

Mayor Polonsky, who was unable to make the trip to Sacramento because of business commitments, said the three major projects facing the North County are the Cabrillo Freeway, Route 186 and widening of El Camino.

Daly City and Pacifica leaders have already met with the Highway Commission about the Cabrillo priority.

Said Polonsky, "I anticipate that for subsequent negotiations on the Cabrillo, Route 186 and El Camino Real widening projects, the mayors and representatives of the four cities involved will continue to work together."

Bruno Concern On County Jail

is less likely to cause trouble if he has something to occupy his hours—and is treated like a human being while serving his sentence," Mrs. Livingod said.

But Carberry pointed out he wasn't "running a Hilton Hotel."

"This is a prison—a place where people who have broken the law are sent, and we DO have an adequate rehabilitation program and everyone has a job to do," he said.

Eight years ago, the sheriff started a program aimed at the rehabilitation of alcoholics, which comprise the majority of the prison's iinmates.

The program is credited with measurably cutting the rate of alcoholic "repeaters" at the prison, according to Carberry.

But observers feel the program is limited and does not sufficiently deal with either the alcoholics or the other inmates.

"Every little bit helps," Carberry countered when asked if the program was a cure-all. "No one person is a panacea for all the ills affecting rehabilitation of prisoners here," he said.

Stanley Adams is a former alcoholic who presently counsels certain inmates for the Salvation Army at the San Bruno facility.

"I used to have the same feeling that many of these men have when they step into prison. I wanted to 'blow up' the whole world," Adams said. "Certainly there are many things that could be done to improve the situation at San Bruno . . . but 90 per cent of the gripes are normal aggressions these fellows bring in with them.

"If these fellows didn't have these tensions and problems they wouldn't be in prison," Adams said.

There is one thing Adams and other persons working with the inmates definitely agree on, and that is to separate the inmates into groups.

"For one thing the 'wino' isn't going to run away—you couldn't get rid of him if you pushed him out the door," Adams said. "These men could be put into one of the jail's dormitories by themselves."

Presently, many inmates must sleep on the floor because of crowded conditions.

Sheriff Carberry said the crowding was a result of the large volume of civil rights demonstrators serving sentences there and was only temporary.

name the Edsel now has another chance.

The rules are simple.

Interested school-namers need only jot down their suggestions and mail them to the district office, 375 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City.

Or, since time is short, a telephone call will do. The number is 755-1162.

Although the board did not specify, it may be assumed that sincerity and aptness of thought will weigh heavily in any decision.

No prizes will be awarded, needless to say, but the winner will have one reward: a large vote of thanks from the Jefferson Union High Trustees, who at this point remain nameless.

Williams Ford Mustangs Win Midget Loop Game

Junior Loop All-Stars Lose, Too

The Williams Ford Mustangs defeated the National Division All-Stars at Westmoor Park Saturday, with Zane Pila pitching a four-hit shutout. Pila was named most valuable player.

The final score was 2-0.

Gary McArthur, a substitute second baseman for the Mustangs, hit a two-out single to drive in both runs for the winners in the Daly City Recreation Department contest.

Ted Grey, Phil Federico and Tim Tomasello got the only other Mustang hits.

Gary Stoller was a standout for the All-Stars, as he struck out 15 Mustang batters. He went the full game.

All-Star centerfielder Mark Almoral hit "three-for-four."

The Rec Department's Junior champion, Hunt's Donuts, defeated the J-L All-Stars, 5-4, in an extra inning Junior League All-Star game.

Dan Fitzgerald singled with one out in the tenth inning, got to third base on an error, then scored the winning run when Carl Barboy hit a sharp drive down the third baseline.

Dwayne Mayberry led the Hunt's hitting parade with two hits in three trips to the plate.

The losing All-Stars were paced by Rich Martinez, who struck out 17. To Martinez went the most valuable player award.

Mothers And Toads Win Rec Games

The Mothers won their second straight game as they downed the Pomona Casuals, 56-35, behind the one-two scoring punch of Lou Matteucci and Dan Cafferata.

Cafferata hit 16 points while Matteucci collected 14 points. The Casuals were paced by Willie Redmond's 15 points.

The Toads defeated the Priests 46-36 behind a combined team effort which saw Tom Burgess, Mike Otterstead and Rego Ayala hit for 12, 15 and 13 points respectively. Bob Foreman bagged 13 points for the losers.

Jay Foreman, son of Mrs. Barbara C. Zimmer and Melvin J. Foreman, will be Bar Mitzvah on Friday at the Temple on Brotherhood Way. Services will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Annual Summer Program For 'Tweens' Set

The Westlake Library, Daly City, will present its second summer program for boys and girls in the "tween" age "about" eight to eleven years) from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. July 28.

Such selections as William Blake's menacingly descriptive "The Tyger" and San Franciscan Ernest Lawrene Thayer's dramatic "Casey at the Bat" already have been chosen, a library spokesman said.

Playboys Swamp Junior Sharks

High school softball play opened up last week with the Westmoor Park Playboys taking a 9-1 decision from the Westlake Bowl Junior Sharks.

Outstanding performances for the Playboys were turned in by Vic Aiello and Sid Samayoa. Gust Milon pitched three-hit ball for the winners.

The FDR's nipped the Gallant Men 4-3 behind the fine defensive performances of Mike Ward, Steve Gilmore and Les Williams. Larry Becker, Paul Romer and Jim Lacy led the winners' hitting attack.

Garden Village defeated Marchbanks Park 4-2 to round out league play last week. Al Liske's double and triple, Ted Valoria's triple and doubles by Don Frost and Mike Mitchell provided the punch needed to push across the four runs for the winners.

By LE PACINI

THANKS to a transplanted Daly City boy the theories on which we've been expounding the past few weeks as to why pitching is dominating baseball today may someday be proven out.

You faithful may recall that one of the reasons we recently put forth was the homerun idea, the general refusal of modern batters to think along with the more sophisticated pitchers.

Hopefully, Alan Gallagher may soon champion our cause for thinking hitters.

Gallagher, you may remember, was the first player drafted by the Giants when the new draft ruling went into effect. The slick third baseman, a San Francisco native—as his native parents continually emphasize—was a Daly City resident when signed, and local people have since adopted him as one of their own.

BUT enough of the background. The point is that Gallagher is currently tearing up the Class A California League with Fresno, the Giant farm. Last time we checked with Giant farm system secretary Jack Schwarz, Alan was leading the team in hitting with a .326 mark, had 14 doubles, six triples, seven homeruns, and, if you're interested in speed, a respectable seven stolen bases.

The further point is how Alan is doing it. Recently he told a Sporting News reporter that from the time his father, Joe, had him hitting a beachball at one year, nine months of age, he's been "going with the pitch."

His natural power is to left and right center fields, and he refuses to alter his swing to become a pull hitter. "My father always taught me the most important thing is to hit the ball. You have no chance for a hit when you strike out. If I get an inside pitch, I'll try for the homerun. Power gets you Cadillacs, but a .200 batting average. I'm a line-drive hitter."

That's mature thinking for a 20 year old, and, happily, the Giant hierarchy is leaving him to his own devices.

NOT ONLY does Gallagher have all "the tools," as his manager, Ed Fitzgerald, says (Alan also played basketball and football in high school, is a 175 bowler and a brown belt judo man), but he also has two important qualities which aren't measurable in terms of statistics; desire and color.

Around Candlestick, they think fondly not only of Gallagher, but also of another Daly City boy—this one a "native" from Westmoor—Bruce Hix.

At this writing, Hix, cavorting at second for Fresno, was stroking the ball at a .317 clip, had 13 doubles, four triples and eight homers, and is apparently adjusting well to his shift over from third base.

This shift was a significant one for both Gallagher and Hix. It means that the Giants are definitely interested in both of them, want them both on the field at the same time.

Schwarz says that the decision as to which one to shift was decided solely on size, Hix, the shorter of the two, is simply more the size of a second baseman. "Third base is more a big man's position," says Schwarz. Gallagher is a growing six foot, 180 pounder.

MOREOVER, Hix is a ruggedly built youngster (remember when he was just about the best football player in the NPL?) and should be able to take the pounding to which second sackers must submit themselves.

What about Hart, Lanier, Fuentes, et al? Don't worry about it until the time comes. But there are some comforting thoughts. Hart can play the outfield, and Lanier or Fuentes could play shortstop or be traded. And don't forget, Gallagher played some first base in high school and is fast enough to play the outfield. Hix is a good enough athlete to—if he continues to hit—be able to adjust to almost any position.

It would indeed be ironic if the Giants' first "native" player is not one, but two Daly City residents. That would be a greater coup than the great Cow Palace annexation.

OTHER LOCAL NOTES:

Sometimes you gotta admit these coaches know what they're talking about.

Several years back Terra Nova track coach Dennis Lanterman had a hot cross-country team led by a couple of outstanding senior runners. We asked Lanterman how they stacked up with other prep runners around the country. He told us about a sophomore out of Kansas who was, in Lanterman's own words, "Fantastic, unbeatable."

"A sophomore unbeatable?" we asked.

"Yes," said Lanterman. "His name's Jim Ryun. Remember it."

Do you remember, incidentally, who the first American was to crack the "impenetrable" four minute mile? Don Bowden, running for Cal in Stockton in 1957 clocked in at 3:57.7. Sort of pales besides Ryun's 3:51.3, doesn't it?

While we're on firsts, do you know who hit the first televised homerun? Dolph Camilli, who slugged a two-run homer for the Dodgers against the Reds in 1939. So what's local about that? Well . . . Dolph's daughter, Diane, is a PE teacher at Jefferson High, only now she's Diane Abraham, wife of Dick Abraham, Sna Fran cisco State's head wrestling coach and acting athletic director.

A negative note from San Francisco State: last week the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL put former Gator Tim Tierney on waivers. He had been trying to make it as a defensive back.

CHIP off the old block Jerry Montague not only made the PAL Intermediate All-Star squad and sparked it to a win over the Colts, PAL champs, but the rugged third sacker from Westmoor and the OLM Wolves, was also voted the Most Valuable Player Award.

If the name Montague is familiar, his father is Eddie Montague, the legendary Giant scout who signed Willie Mays. Jerry, a real hotdog, would like nothing better than to follow in his father's footsteps. Not sign Mays, but make the majors. Montague senior played shortstop and third base for Cleveland from 1928-32, hit .262.

Recently someone asked us why we keep plugging San Francisco State College as "local." Aside from the facts that it practically borders Daly City and many of its grads (including your humble author) are active in the DC-Pacifica, etc., sports world, the college newspaper (The Golden Gater) is registered as second class matter with the Daly City Post Office. If it's good enough for the United States mail, it's good enough for us.

TAG-END: We hate to admit it, but, like last year's Dodgers (sans the pitching, of course), the Pirates begin to look more and more like 1966's team of destiny. They've reached the point where they can't do anything wrong, where every batted ball somehow becomes a hit.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

I THINK it's more fun to have a luncheon for the ladies than to have dinner with the Queen of England. Well, I guess I'll have to be honest and admit that I've never been invited to dinner with the Queen. But I have given lots of luncheons and they are great fun.

Luncheons are pleasurable to me, first; because I enjoy planning and cooking. Secondly, the ladies are always willing and happy to try any new ideas in food. And lastly, lots of laughter and good talk goes on as the meal proceeds.

With these happy prospects in mind I gave a luncheon last week. Since it is a luncheon group that meets regularly, it was important to find something new and different for my menu.

Recently I received a booklet from one of the coffee firms in the area which has many interesting recipes, using rice as a main ingredient. Since rice is a favorite of mine, it was just a matter of selecting which recipe sounded the most inviting. This dish, Clam Tambales, was a wise choice.

CLAM TIMBALES

1 (7½ oz.) can minced clams
1 cup cooked Quick Brown Rice
1 lightly beaten egg
three-fourths cup milk
½ teas. grated onion
Cheese Sauce

Drain clams; save liquor for sauce. Combine clams with rice, egg, milk, onion, and alt. Spoon into buttered custard cups, and set in pan containing 1 inch hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350-degrees) 45 to 50 minutes, until set. Run knife around edge of cups and turn timbales out onto serving plates Top with Cheese Sauce. Garnish with parsley and paprika. Serves 4.

CHEESE SAUCE

2 Tbsp. butter
2 Tbsp. flour.
⅛ teas. salt.
Clam liquor and milk to make 1 cup
½ cup melted cheese

Melt the butter and blend in flour and salt. Combine clam liquor and milk to make one cup. Stir into flour mixture. Cook and stir until sauce boils and is thickened. Remove from heat and add cheese stirring until melted.

NOW that the entree had been chosen, the salad was next on the menu. I find molded salads go nicely with any meal, and especially when they add color and grace to a fancy luncheon. Since there are so many varieties, you can find just the salad to add the colors and textures your menu needs. Plus these stirling qualities, they can be made ahead and will wait patiently to be unmolded at the appropriate time

This salad made up as went along, as the result of my creativitywas quite delicious, I'm happy to pass it on to you good cooks.

ORANGE MELLO MOLD

1 pkg. organge gelatin
1 pkg. lemon gelatin
2 cups hot water
1 cup orange juice
three fourths cup waer
1 cup sour cream
1 can mandarin oranges
$. 1 cup miniature marshmallows

Prepare the gelatin, using two cups hot water and one cup of orange juice and three-fourths cup cold water. Set in the refrigerator to chill. When it becomes partially set remove and whip in the sour cream. Add the marshmallows and oranges. Pour into molds, which have been rinsed with cold water and return to the refrigerator.

This makes 8 to 10 individual molds.

LAST, but never least with me, what would I serve for dessert? Since I save dessert recipes like mad, it's a simple matter for me to go through my file and find something new.

The dessert selected was ideally suited as the finale to the meal. It is rich and fluffy with whipped cream, topped with raspberry pie fillng. As pretty to look at, as it is delicious to eat.

RASPBERRY DELGHT

½ lb. vanilla wafers crushed (use 7½-oz. box)
½ cup butter
1½ cups confectioners sugar
2 eggs
½ cup slivered almonds
½ pt. whipping cream or a low-calorie substitute
1 can raspberry pie filling

Place crushed vanilla wafers in a buttered oblong dish. Cream butter, add confectioners sugar and the eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Spread the creamed mixture over crumbs. Top with almonds (always brown nuts in butter. It adds calories, but it adds a delicious taste too.) Next whip the cream, or the whipped cream substitute and spread over all. Place raspberries on top.

On the night before the luncheon I made the dessert, up to the whipped cream. Then early in the morning I added the whipped cream and raspberries.

Recovery of Loot Beats Filing of Crime Report

Officer Roger Austin, patroling the fog-shrouded Westlake district Friday night, evidently startled the thief or thieves on Westpark Drive. Austin said he came upon a Cadillac convertible, and became suspicious when the driver quickly turned off his headlights.

In the chase which followed, Austin lost the darkened convertible in the swirling fog. It was discovered a few minutes later, abandoned on the Thornton Beach Road.

The driver and any possible passengers were gone.

Inside the car, however, were a number of items matching the description of loot from the burglaries.

New Story Hour Set At Crocker

A new "story hour" program, which started last Monday, is now being offered to the young children at Crocker School playground.

Every Monday and Wednesday from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. specialist Nancy MacDonald will create an atmosphere of drama and excitement for the younger set.

This class will be followed at 2:45 by the playground arts and crafts program, designed ience in creative art and to give children a basic expermanual dexterity. Participants will complete prepared projects under supervision at each session. A charge of ten cents is required to cover the cost of materials.

Because of the young ages of the Crocker playground participants, these classes replace the previously scheduled creative art class designed for the older child.

The creative art program is being offered at Colma School on Thursday and Friday afternoons, to give the older youngster an opportunity for supervised creative art expression.

Another Water Safety Program Session Set

Although an almost capacity load of 2,000 swimmers have participated in each water safety program this summer, there is still one more session left, beginning August 1.

Registration is set for Friday for the classes, which are cosponsored by the San Mateo Region Golden Gate Chapter American Red Cross and the San Mateo Union High School District.

Crestmoor High School registration center will open from 9 a.m. until 12 noon, and Capuchino pool registration will end at 3 p.m.

Swim classes are geared to beginning, intermediate, advanced swimming, junior and senior life saving levels. All participants must be at least 50 inches tall. To help defray pool operating costs, a fee of $2.50 for swimmers and $4 for life saving lessions is required, payable to the school district.

Scheduled at the Capuchino pool on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., recreational swimming is also offered at Crestmoor on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., with a fee of 25 cents for those under 18 years old and 40 cents for those older.

Three Teen Events Are Scheduled

The Daly City Recreation Department announced that three activities for teen-agers are scheduled for August 2.

The Imperials Junior Teen Club will have a beach party at Montara Beach, Pacifica.

Cost of this activity will be $1 for members and $1.25 for guests. The price includes a hot dog roast and medical insurance. Youngsters will leave Lincoln Park at 5 p.m. and are scheduled to return at 9:30 p.m.

The Telstars and Roof Raisers have scheduled a band dance at Thomas Edison School from 7-9 p.m. on the same evening. Cost is 25 cents for members of both clubs; 50 cents for their guests.

Also on that date, the West Side Senior Teen Club will hold a band dance in the Westmoor High Cafeteria, from 8-11 p.m. Admission to this dance is 50 cents for club members, 75 cents for their guests.

Further information on the junior high and senior high teen programs can be obtained by calling the recreation department, 755-0850, Ext. 35.

The Times and THE POST
SAN MATEO TIMES AND DAILY NEWS LEADER

- Here's an exciting way to figure out what you think the prices of groceries will be next week—and win cash and groceries while you are doing it. The Times will give the winner $25 in cash. However, if the winner is a regular, home-delivered subscriber, he or she will receive an extra bonus of $25, a total prize of $50 in cash. The winner also will be given $10 worth of groceries of his or her own choosing from each of the merchants listed above.

- Just write what you think will be the lowest advertised prices for the items (printed in the official entry blank) in any advertisement in next Wednesday's issue of The Times and Post. The person who has the most correct answers will be declared the winner. If more than one entry has the same number of correct answers, or if no entry contains any correct answers, then the person who picks the total closest to the actual total price of all items, will be declared the winner.

- Quality, quantity, brand, grade or size of a product must be advertised in terms of the units called for in the contest. For example, if three pounds of an article are advertised that price cannot be considered if the contest calls for the lowest advertised price of one pound. In the event an article is not advertised in the quantity called for in the contest, then only the remaining articles and their total will be considered for the contest. Advertised prices will not be considered if a coupon, minimum purchase or purchase of another article is required to buy that article at that price. This week's entries must be postmarked or received in The Times office not later than Friday midnight, July 29, to be eligible. Entries must be addressed to Your Grocery List Editor, San Mateo Times, San Mateo, California.

NOTE: Employees or members of their immediate families of any food advertisers in next Wednesday's newspaper are not eligible to compete in this contest.

GENERAL RULES:

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the contest except employes of The Times or members of their families or other specifically exempted from a particular contest.
2. A contestant may submit as many entries as desired on the official entry blank printed in the newspaper, but only one, exact-sized hand-drawn facsimile of the official entry blank. No mechanically reproduced (printed, mimeographed, etc.) copies of the entry blank will be accepted, unless issued by The Times.
3. Entries may be attached to a postcard, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the office of The Times.
4. An entry must reach the contest editor before the date specified. No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Times is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.
5. If more than one winning answer is received, the prizes will be divided equally among the winners.
6. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judge's decision. All entries become the property of The Times.
7. Only one prize per contest will be awarded to a family unit.
8. Entries must be mailed or delivered to the contest editor to be declared eligible. No entries can be returned. The answer to each contest will be printed in The Times within 14 or less days after the contest ends.
9. Regular subscribers who win will get a bonus equal to the amount of the cash prize.
10. Answers to the contests or winners will not be given out over the telephone. Winners will be notied by The Times.

Refuse Battle Could Affect Whole Peninsula

First Results Of New Child Studies

FOR YEARS obstetricians have been advising patients to watch their weight during pregnancy on the theory that smaller babies make easier delivery. If the results of a round of recent experiments mean as much as some scientists think they do, the obstetricians' advice may be reversed.

Preliminary studies have indicated pre-natal nutrition, and food habits during the earliest years, may determine a child's ability to learn. Experiments with animals and humans have demonstrated that well-nourished infants not only require less food as they grow older than those who were undernourished in the early years, but show definite signs of superior intelligence.

To learn more about the relationship of early nutritional habits to the development of a child, a research center has started on an eight-year study in Guatemala, in a part of the world where populations are less mobile and thus easier to observe during the formative years.

Dr. Bacon Chow of the Johns Hopkins University Medical School has already proved the correlation between nutrition and intelligence on rats, by regulating the protein intake during and after pregnancy. Dr. Chow also joined a team of U.S. Navy doctors in tests in native children on Taiwan. These tests also showed children with a well-nourished childhood had an advantage over the undernourished.

Arguments Heard In S.M. Court

By FRANK D. LaPIERRE

Judge Joseph Huberty took under submission arguments centering around the explosive Brisbane City anti-garbage dumping ordinance in San Mateo County superior court Monday.

No date was set for rendering a decision on the fight which has flared for the past several months.

Both sides agreed to present the case to Judge Huberty for decision and not to a jury.

The battle, which could affect refuse disposal throughout the Peninsula, began after an initiative ordinance drafted by the Brisbane Citizens for Civic Progress (BCCP) was pased by voters last September.

In essence the ordinance cast aside an earlier city council move permitting the San Francisco Sanitary Land Fill Company the diked area on the east side of the freeway following completion of operations on the Southern Pacific Railroad's property on the west side.

Leonard Stefanelli, head of the San Francisco firm, said the west area would be filled within three months "and if we can't use our other site (east of the Bayshore) we'll have to park our trucks and let San Francisco's garbage pile up."

Both sides have exchanged heated arguments defending their respective stands on the subject of dump sites around Brisbane for more than two years.

"We're tired of being a 'sump' instead of a community," Dr. Paul Gorky, controversial head of the Brisbane Citizens for Civic Progress (BCCP) told the Times.

"We've got to get away from these fill and cover dumps and get into the Twentieth Century," Gorky said. "And we can't possibly progress in this field if we continue to use the present methods of refuse disposal."

Gorky accused the San Francisco scavenger firm of failing to convert to modern waste disposal methods—such as smog free incinerators—in order to cut down on expense.

"That's nonsense," Leonard Stefanelli, head of both the Sanitary Land Fill Company and the Sunset Scavenger Company said. "We've actually shown a loss of about $3,000 monthly for the past few months."

Stefanelli said the loss necessitates the need for readjustment in San Francisco refuse pickup rates to offset this loss.

Special Report

"Even if we had an approved smog-free incinerator it would be at least two years and ten months before we could start burning the first load of barbage," Stefanelli said.

Cost of the incinerator would be some $3,500,000 Stefanelli said, adding "we've got plans for an incinerator at the present time which we feel will meet the specifications required by the smog control agencies."

To date, no smog approved incinerators are in operations on the West Coast.

San Francisco and Brisbane aren't the only cities facing refuse dumping problems!

The Oyster Point dump is the site for refuse gathered in South San Francisco and Brisbane.

Past difficulties regarding pollution of the Bay waters by this dump have been overcome with the construction of a mud dike around the future park site.

Joseph Sciarra, owner of the South San Francisco Scavenger Company, says the dump will be full in "about two years."

"We saw this day coming a long time ago and have been preparing for it," Sciarra said. "For instance, we have what we feel is a smog-free incinerator that can be in operation in about six months once we get the necessary approval from various agencies."

Operational costs of the proposed incinerator are expected to be about the same as the fill and cover method now being used, according to Sciarra.

San Mateo County's Board of Supervisors four years ago appointed a committee to study dump site acquisition.

Purpose of the committee was to locate dump sites that would provide adequate fill area until the year 2000.

An official of the county dump site acquisition agency said once an area is located it is turned over to private firm for operation.

The sole exception to this was the Green Valley site, north of Montara, which was acquired by the County.

Gorky claims his community's fight is not based on the dump being an "eyesore" or a health hazard to the community, but rather against the continued filling of San Francisco Bay.

"An awful lot of people moved here because of the beautiful Bay. This filling ... the taking away of this bay from future generations ... has got to stop somewhere," Gorky said.

But Gorky contended the operation, while perhaps suitable for the SP lagoon area, would not be welcome by his organization for filling the Bay.

Asked if the 100 plus acres adjacent to Protrero Point might be used in lieu of the debated Brisbane site, Stefanelli said this was "almost impossible."

The Protrero Point area is diked and is now being filled with so-called "clean fill" by another firm.

Stefanelli also pointed out that if the Brisbane site is abandoned the city will lose some $2,500 per month (6 per cent of the total budget) revenues now being paid by the scavengers.

DR. PAUL GORKY
"... must modernize"

SEAGULLS, SCRAPS AND STENCH—The Oyster Point refuse dump in South San Francisco is considered by San Francisco scavengers and some city officials to be a poor operation. Pollution of Bay waters by the dump has ended with the construction of a mud dike around the site. The dump will someday be a city park. (Post Photo)

N. County Tour Group To Get Governor Up Early

By DENIS WADE

An active group of Pacificans will get Alaska Governor William Egan out of bed next month, during an extensive 23-day tour of that state and Canada.

Members of the Fifty-Plus Club will present Governor Egan with a fuchsia of the "City of Pacifica" variety, the coast city's official flower.

An "Alaska" fuchsia, developed by East Bay hybridizer Bob Castro, also will be presented by the group.

To participate in the ceremonies with the club, said Mrs. Edna Calhan, the governor will have to get up at 6:30 a.m.; Mrs. Calhan, president of the club and tour director, reported the early hour to be the only time permitted by the tour schedule although she did manage to delay the trip long enough for the meeting with the governor.

Club members will leave Pacifica August 5 by Greyhound Bus, stay overnight at Eugene, Ore., and continue on to Vancouver, B.C., the next day.

With others joining in Vancouver, the tour officially will begin August 7.

Transportation will include travel by bus to Lake Louise and other points; by train to Mount McKinley Park and Whitehorse Pass; and by steamer from Skagway to Juneau, for the meeting with Governor Egan.

The group will have with them a letter from Governor Brown to Governor Egan, sending best wishes to Brown's Alaska counterpart.

"I hope that you, as Governor of Alaska, will provide these Californians with the traditional hospitality of your state," Brown wrote.

Mrs. Calhan said persons who have taken the tour in the past have reported it is not strenuous, and is almost enjoyable."

She urged all who can afford the $635 cost to join the Fifty-Plus Club members already signed up.

Those now planning to go, she said, include both men and women who live in several Peninsula cities and the East Bay.

A former Pacifican who lives in St. James, Minn., will meet the group in Vancouver.

BOARDING THE BUS for an inspection prior to tour of Canada and Alaska is Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of Pacifica's Fifty-Plus Club. Mrs. Calhan is driector for the tour which leaves August 5. Driver Elvin Nalley assists Mrs. Calhan, while fellow club member Mrs. Mariane Nelsen looks on. Tour members will travel by train and steamer in addition to chartered bus.

Lewis—A 'Fresh Kid'

Barbara Bladen

JERRY (SHIPWRECK) LEWIS is a phenomena. He's a grown man who acts like a fresh bratty kid and compounds this brazenness by insulting his audiences. And they love it.

The famous movie clown's fans bathed in the aura of his nuttiness recently at Circle Star Theater where he held comic court with such howls of laughter and adolescent rejoicing, they became as funny as the show on stage.

I say bathed because many of them, mostly women, wept tears over his antics. And that's how it should be. You like someone, so let him know it. He wants to hear it. Brother, does he want to hear it. In his aggressive, boyish way (always boyish, if he acted like an adult they'd be hostile) Lewis demands that you laugh at him. Most of the time, his technique works. If they don't laugh at his joke they laugh at his insults about them not getting the joke

Therein lies his technique. He'll do ANYTHING to get a laugh and in so doing, he works too hard. Laugh; insult. Laugh, laugh! More insult. Now laugh! Laughter. He smiles. But by then, he's overworked the joke, are the chuckles worth it?

IT ISN'T ALL throwing himself on the floor and kicking his arms and legs in juvenile temper tantrum. Sometimes he sits on a stool and talks about his family, or reads a poem, or conducts the orchestra, or sings a song, or yells at someone in the front row about pulling down her skirt, or mimics playing an instrument, or kids about being Jewish (he gets a lot of mileage over this statement of fact.)

Even if you are a fan, there are so many grating aspects of his personality, you're bound to be antagonistic even between laughs at his slapstick routines.

We like him best when he's performing, like an actor, not as himself but as a zany make-believe character in a silly voice with his eyes crossed, his legs entwined and his body contorted. As in his imitation of an airline pilot or with a musical quintet, which he conducts and insults and breaks up and uses as straight men. Then he is an artist.

BAYSHORE BROSCHT aptly describes the show. It's like being inside an enormous television set except there were no stage decorations. A little singing, a little dancing, a few laughs, a headliner and some polished featured acts. You could book it anywhere, from the Catskills to the county fair and it would work.

The film comic has a way with people. He's a show off of the highest calibre. He'll make you laugh or kill himself in the attempt. By walking out into the audience and getting them to sing "Shine on Harvest Moon," he had a spontaneously funnier show than many of his movies.

We're convinced that laughter is like dope to Lewis. The more he gets, the more he wants, the more he encourages, the later the show will end.

WE'D WALK a mile to see the Wiere Brothers, they're marvelously clever and funny and talented. It's their subtle touches that are so winning; their cherubic faces and almost naive interruptions of each other's act that makes their humor endure. Whether playing violins, or balancing them on their heads, they evoke laughter, a warm, reciprocal kind that's braced with admiration.

The Nicholas Brothers are top notch performers in their imitations of famous dancers and highly charged song styling. They do more than just "warm up" an audience, they entertain nobly.

The Book Shelf

Careful Look At Youth Suggested

Samuel Chandler

HERE is a book that should be read by everyone interested in the development of today's young people: "Youth and the Hazards of Affluence," by Dr. Graham B. Blaine Jr. Its subtitle is "The High School and College Years."

In it Dr. Blaine delineates the results of a study he made. He says he has learned that now is the time to take a careful look at youth and evaluate the meaning of the present trend in terms of its effect on future generations as well as on the present one.

This trend, he observed, seems to be producing a lack of self-discipline, a tendency toward destructiveness and a new kind of amorality regarding sex among high school and college students that is unique in world history.

As a scientist Dr. Baline carefully laid the plans for his investigation. On one hand he attempted to determine whether we are encountering a period of greater frankness which may soon be abandoned in favor of discreet silence as the pendulum of time swings towards decorum and politeness. This study led him to conclude that the pendulum is not swinging back and it is, therefore, time for a careful look and evaluation of the present trend.

ON THE other hand, he sought to study the present behaviour of youth in relation to changes in the family, school and community environment that young people experience.

In Chapter one he writes that a child's conscience develops in two stages: the underlayer, which is formed from ages one to seven; the second stage from about 10 to 12 through early adolescence. During this stage the old rules can no longer apply, so parents must "shift gears from punishing with pain, for example, to a clarification of where they stand."

Today's parents, Dr. Blaine writes, face some basic obstacles, such as misinterpreted and extrapolated theories that parents should stop punishing children and instead encourage them to act as their spirit of psyche moves them. Although this obstacle is being removed, many parents cling to a belief that restrictions are harmful.

Another obstacle is a communication breakdown; fathers spend too little time at home; mothers have no time for talking and guidance. Television, school activities, church and community programs, and an overabundance of everything make the children too busy for their parents. Consequently it is not uncommon for family members to greet each other with, "So, how have you been this week."

Still other obstacles are broken familes, alcoholism, physical violence. Problems also arise from substitutes for the job historically delegated to parents; such as, grandparents, certain books, and to a certain degree teaching machines.

IN SUMMARY Dr. Blaine writes that today as always "parents must provide certain attitudes and clear examples if they wish their children to develop normally. Positive definition of the limits of acceptable and unacceptable behavior in early childhood; models of an identifiable sort which demonstrate the advantages through meeting real challenges during adolescence — these are the bare bones that are needed today."

Better Business

Franchising Is A Booming Industry

Lorene Beasley

THE GROWTH of franchising, created by the urge or "make money in spare or "make money insparre time" has created a large number of prosperous small businesses. While many of the franchise offerings and sales representations are legitimate, in many instances the buyer has been grossly misled as to the potential profits and merits of the product.

In too many cases the franchiser loses interest after the purchaser hands over his money. Often times the purchaser of a franchise finds that the royalties or service charges he is obligated to pay are exorbitant.

The victims of franchising frauds are usually older men and women who have had no business experience and who cannot afford to lose their little savings.

This booming industry in which more than 600 franchise firms yearly attract an estimated 20,000 new investors in known and unknown products has become one of the major sources of inquiries to the Better Business Bureau.

WHAT is franchising? Franchise is a licensing arrangement which gives the exclusive right to use a company's name and to market its products or services in a certain territory. In return, the franchisee must pay a franchise fee or a percentage of gross sales or, agree to buy the firm's supplies and equipment. Often the payment involves all three.

Franchises fall into three categories: the well-planned legitimate franchise backed by a marketable product, the idea that cannot succeed for obvious reasons, the crooked franchise peddled by a promoter interested mainly in collecting a handsome franchise fee and moving on to the next sucker.

Contrary to alluring advertising media, purchasing a franchise with a well known parent company does not carry a success guarantee. Going into business under a franchise agreement requires long work hours and an adequate capital.

It does, however, represent an opportunity to own and run a business with a very good chance of success.

The franchisee has the aid of the parent business in promotion, training, and buying. He has the use of an established and nationally advertised trade name and the security of dealing with a known and proven product. proven product.

FIGURES show that almost half of the people who go into business for themselves fail within 18 months. The franchise buyer of a known and proven product has a business connection which makes it easier to obtain additional capital. Less than 5 per cent who buy franchises fail in the same 18 month period.

Investigate thoroughly an offer before investing your money. Be suspicious of any offer that merely gives a box number of a blind mailing address. A reputable firm does not have to hide in this manner.

Laguna Study Leave Hit

A former employe of the Laguna Salada School District in Pacifica has criticized the district's Board of Trustees for granting a paid leave of absence to a classified employee for purposes of re-training.

Mrs. Jane McKinney of San Francisco, in a letter to The Post, has stated that Mrs. Rita Boe, a secretary with the district, should have been trained "before being employed and not years later at the taxpayers' expense."

Mrs. Boe has received the board's permission to attend Heald's Business College in San Francisco next year in order to upgrade her skills due to the influx of new students into the district's schools.

According to Superintendent Frederick Lucas, Mrs. Boe's request is legitimate since the state has recently passed a new law which allows classified employes to take such leaves.

"This is the first year of the law," commented Lucas. "It (the move by Mrs. Boe) is also the only request in this district."

The secretary, who has been with the district office for over 14 years, will take a variety of sophisticated courses at Heald's. Among the courses to be taken by Mrs. Boe are advanced shorthand, advanced use of business machines, production of duplicated materials, secretarial accounting and advanced typing.

Lucas explained that he has had "nothing to do with granting Mrs. Boe her leave."

In answer to a charge leveled by Mrs. McKinney that Mrs. Boe could take her courses at night school, Lucas stated that "I really can't answer that one. I don't think she can get the same courses in night school, however."

The law which enables Mrs. Boe to take a year off with pay states that she must provide that she will remain with the district for at least two years after the completion of her course of study. This Mrs. Boe has done.

Although Mrs. McKinney claimed in her letter that Mrs. Boe would receive "a minimum of one half her salary" next year, Lucas said that the board had not as yet determined Mrs. Boe's salary.

Lucas claimed he "has not the slightest idea what her salary will be" next year.

Mrs. Boe is a former president of the northern region of the California Association of Educational Employes.

Classified employes include all maintenance parsonnel in addition to office workers like Mrs. Boe.

Lucas said he did not know of any other local district that had granted a similar leave to a classified worker.

SAN BRUNO MT.

Bond Issue Would Be Needed for Park Site

County Manager E. R. Stallings has said that even if the $1,300,000 presently allocated by the county for purchase of a park site on Pescadero Creek could be used for purchase of a park site on San Bruno Mountain it still probably would take a bond issue to finance the latter project.

His comment followed revelation by the Regional Planning Commission that the Army Corps of Engineers may recommend federal financing of the purchase of 4,500 acres for a park site in conjunction with development of the Pescadero Dam.

The county has allocated the $1,300,000 San Mateo County's share of a state park bond issue for the Pescadero park land purchase. If the federal government purchases the property, Stallings said, the county would pay it back out of user's fees.

The $1,300,000 could them be reallocated, he stated. But even if it were used for the proposed Dan Bruno Mountain Park, it is doubtful if it would be enough to buy something useable, the county manager said, adding that it probably still would be necessary to seek a bond issue, as has been proposed.

Earliest that any move would be made to reallocate the $1,300,000 would be after the Corps of Engineers has made a firm recommendation to Congress for the Pescadero project and the funds to finance it, Stallings said.

Bruno Garden Club Members Hear Expert

The July meeting of the San Bruno Garden Club was held in the Old Fireman's Hall.

Speaker for the evening was herb expert, Mrs. Lee R. Provine, a past president and founder of the Peninsula Herb Society, noted for the many varieties of herbs in her own garden.

She discussed the care and culture of herbs and described the many supersitions connected with this plant.

Recipes for various dressings was also given. She displayed many specimens and told of their uses in the kitchen.

The miniature flower show featured both artistic arrangements for all classes and horticulture specimens. The title was "A Modern Arrangement — Arrangers choice of Materials." No restrictions. The horticulture speciments included: 1. Gladiola — 1 stalk. 2. Petunias — 3 stems. 3. Snapdragons — 3 stems, plain or assorted and 4. A potted geranium in bloom.

Many members of the Garden Club will be entering in the San Mateo County Fiesta in August. Among them will be Mrs. William Knill, Mrs. Ray Kirk, and Mrs. Elizabeth Donahoe. Ten hostesses will also be provided by the club to serve during the fiesta.

The San Bruno Garden Club is a member of Bay-Ocean District, California Garden Clubs, Incorporated.

How Much To Water?

Home gardeners who have a combination of lawn, trees and shrubs often have trouble deciding how mcch and how often to water.

In mixed plantings, frequent light irrigations may keep the lawn looking well, but still not provide enough water for shrub and tree roots.

Gardeners Still Lacking Top De-Weeding Weapon

For all his genius, man has failed so far to develop the ultimate garden aid, manely a snail or slug which feeds on nothing but weeds. And, until such a garden pet comes along we gardeners will have to continue pulling, digging, dusting or spraying when weeds rear their ugly heads.

However, if we lack a super weapon to end the war on weeds, we still have it a lot easier than gardeners of a generation or two back. Science has given us an ever-growing arsenal with which to fight our annual or semi-annual skirmishes against weeks in lawns and flower beds.

Lawn weeds, for instance, are only a minor problem compared to that recent era when each weed had to be rooted out by hand. Today you can spinkle or dust with selective weed killers to control simply and easily most lawn invaders. You can even combine your weed control with fertilizer and complete two jobs at the same time. Special care must be taken, however, not to make such applications in a way that menaces broadleaf shrubs at the lawn's edge.

Weed killers are not that selective.

There are also chemicals that control weeds in flower beds by attacking the weed seeds and keeping them from sprouting. These chemicals do not affect growing things such as flowers and shrubs, only sprouting seeds, hence they are safe for use in and around established plants. Any good nurseryman can fill you in on their use.

Begonia Tours Are Scheduled

The San Francisco Branch of the American Begonia Society is offering begonia lovers two tours of private begonia gardens. The first tour will be held Sunday, July 31, and the second tour Sunday, August 7. Hours of both tours will be 1 to 5 p.m.

The July 31 tour will be held on the Peninsula, and will include gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Eby, 1137 Hillside Boulevard, South San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meyer, 130 Piedmont Avenue, San Bruno, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Spediaddi, 1189 Glenwood Drive, Millbrae.

Dealership For Panos Announced

Gus Panos, well-known Peninsula auto dealer has been appointed the North Peninsula's Chrysler Imports dealer, according to Tad Davies, manager of the Pacific Chrysler Imports Division.

Panos, who previously operated a used car lot in Daly City under the name of Peter Pan Motors will continue to use that name.

Peter Pan Motors is located at 698 El Camino Real, South San Francisco.

In addition to carrying the full line of Chrysler Imports — Sunbeam, Alpine, Tiger V-8, Simca, Hillman and Imp, Panos will continue to sell used cars. The firm also maintains a complete service department for both foreign and domestic cars under the management of "Wimpy" Pera, a man with 18 years experience.

His used car manager is a life-long friend, Jerry Constantatos, who formery owned a restaurant in San Francisco called "Peter Pan," and it was from this that Panos derived the name of his firm.

Security Title Is Aiming To Reverse 'Doldrums'

"There is strong evidence that the real estate fraternity has talked itself into a case of super doldrums that is not supported by the other facets of the economy," according to Corbyn W. Carpenter, vice president and manager of Security Title Insurance Company.

"The substantial slowdown in some segments, and shifts in others, of our mortgage sources have led to confusion as well as panic on the part of both the building and real estate professions, and is now spreading to the general public."

Carpenter outlined a program of advertising being undertaken in San Mateo County by Security Title stressing that by 1970 housing prices may be 20 per cent higher because of increased labor and material costs, and that interest rates are not likely to go down.

"We at Security Title feel the time has come when some member of our industry should make a positive move toward changing the general morale, attitudes and mental outlook of all the people connected with our inter-related industries.

"At Security Title we have a strong belief in the value of California real estate and we are supporting it with action," Carpenter stated in announcing their intention to restimulate and remotivate the real estate buying public with the extensive advertising program.

Sports Car Drawing Is Friday Night

A 1966 Karmann Ghia sports car will be given away Friday night by merchants in the Westlake Shopping Center.

The merchants have given away over 100,000 free tickets for the drawing, Gene Perry, Center advertising director, disclosed this week.

Also to be given away—you need not be present to win—are an all-expense paid vacation to Las Vegas for two, and a giant Magnavox FM-transistor radio.

The drawing will be at 9:15 p.m.

Shop Centers Seek Firms

Two shopping centers are leasing space to firms.

Portola Highlands center in San Bruno, built by Challenge Homes, has vacancies. Already in operation there are the Pacific Market, a beauty salon, a bank and a cleaning establishment.

South San Francisco's Westborough Square, which serves Serramonte, Westborough, Westpark and Fairmont, also is signing up firms for occupancy there, with the Coldwell-Barker Company the leasing agent.

Bruno Store Loses TV

The walkaway TV thief has struck again.

The Coronet Furniture Store of San Bruno is shy one portable color television set, police said.

A man apparently took the set in hand and walked out of the store with it. A similar theft occured at the White Front Store in South San Francisco last week.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

Today I want to introduce you to a place rather than a person, albeit there are many very fine and worthwhile individuals working with this partcular institution, it is the concept and the program which this column will be concentrating its focus upon.

As often happens, one story leads to another and this article was brought to my attention by Head Start's Mrs. John Madrosen, (Datebook on July 6) who felt that many Daly City, South San Francisco and Pacifica people are unaware of Edgewood, even though it is serving families from all over the North Peninsula in a quiet and vital manner. Its San Francisco locale and the fact that is was once known as the San Francisco Protestant Orphanage tend to make most families overlook it as a place for them to turn when internal family problems become overpowering.

A little investigation of the Edgewood facility reveals that it is no longer an orphanage. In fact, for the past two years, it has been a center for the rehalibtation of young boys who have developed severe behavior problems and who need assistance if they are to become productive and peaceful members of their family circles and communities

According to Mrs. Virginia David, of the Edgewood staff, the program is designed for 32 boys between the ages of 7 and 10 years and their families. The youths all have severe behavior problems, tantrums, running away from home, tormenting of smaller children, bed wetting, disruption of classroom discipline and major learning problems. And, though the boys are of average of better than average intelligence, most of them are far below their regular grade level when they arrive at Edgewood. The staff attempts to work with each child and his family in solving the problems which have created his emotional and behaviorial difficulties.

In his annual report, the executive director of Edgewood, Hollie B. Northcott, emphasised the fact that behaviorial problems strike youngster of all races, colors and creeds and the school opens its doors to those seeking assistance, parents, or referrals which come from clinics, schools, family agencies, physicians or ministers.

The new concept of Edgewood, as a treatment center for troubled children rather than an orphanage, is still in the process of developing its potential. At the presnet time bout 20 of the boys being treated at Edgewood are residents of the facility and 12 are in the day program.

Residential children spend their weekends and holidays with their families in their homes, for the Edgewood program emphasizes the importance of the family-centered life.

In his report, Northcott summed up this attitude by saying "in my mind, the important phase of our work here is that we always see a child's home as the center of the emphasis.

"A boy in the residential program spends part of his time in his home with his family so that it is always clear to him where his home is and who his parents are. At no time does Edgewood staff member become a substitute parent, though he or she may well become a warm and trusted friend.

"We also are alert to the need for parents to continue to feel that the boy is their son and their solemn responsibility"

Everyone connected with the home speaks emphatically about the total family involvement with the problems of the troubled child.

Mrs. Lola Bowman, director of Social Services, sums up the attitude by saying that the program is like an iceberg—with the children the part that is seen and the family the larger protion that is not immediately visible.

Mrs. Bowman reports that the brightest hope for the troubled child lies in help for both him and his family.

"Naturally a child's earliest and deepest ties are to his parents, and the ways a child and his parents feel and think about each other, the ways they act toward each other, are of primary importance in our effort to understand and ease the distressing problems — both at home and in school.

"One fact we find to be true almost without exception is that our parents care about and want the best for their children and are willing to invest tremendous time and effort to getting things worked out. Our goal is to return the child to his home and his local school. A successful case is one where a child and his parents have learned to use their own strengths and resources to cope with problems as they arise," Mrs. Bowman said.

The Edgewood program works toward its goal by requiring that parents participate actively in the program with at least weekly couseling sessions with the staff. It is believed by the Edgewood faculty that a child is the mirror of his family's problems and inabilities to live productively with themselves and their neighbors.

Staff members work on a residential hour-to-hour basis with each boy and his emotional problems, through the medium of a staff including a clinical psychologist, psychiatrist, social workers, remedial teachers and college-age cottage child-care workers. A remedial school program, where each boy's individual school and learning problems are assessed and worked on and a residential care program by alert and intelligent young child care workers help to round out the Edgewood approach to assisting the distrubed child

The facility itself is located on five acres of wooded land just across the San Francisco-Daly City line on Twenty-ninth Avenue. It has residential cottages for the boys, a school building, playgrounds and plenty of room for children to run, explore and play. It is a private institution, run on a non-profit basis with financial support from the United Bay Area Crusade, patrons, bequests, trust funds, the income from an endowment plus fees from participating families.

It is significant to note that the average monthly cost for the care of one disturbed boy at Edgewood is $975. In today's world there are few who could afford such an expenditure but the families pay only a fraction of the cost with the exact amount based on the family's ability to pay.

In an open letter to the community Thayer Hopkins, president of the Edgewood board of directors, said, "we plan to continue to keep alert to the changing needs of our Bay Area and we sincerely hope that Edgewood's staff and experience can always assist the area in every possible way in working on new solutions to the needs of children."

If you are interested in more information concerning this program contact Mrs. David, 681-3211, and become better acquainted with this project.

"As an amateur historian I have always been mindful of Edgewood's part in the community since the days it helped the orphans of the early California Argonauts. Today, I realized we have our share of community problems, now reflected more in terms of personal insecurities and tensions. These are frequently the problems we deal with at Edgewood, for children and their families.

Italian Flare For Raisin Desserts

Raisins are paying tribute to the sacred cow this months Dairy products and raisins have been on intimate terms for ages in buttery breads and cakes and cookies, pies, pudding and frozen desserts.

The Italians have always made great use of raisins and rich creamy mixtures. Their tortonis are different and deserving of lots of attention. You make this Frozen Raisin Torton very much as you would frozen custard. Raisins, sherry and macaroon crumbs give the custard both body and flavor. This is a wonderful icy cold dessert to serve on a hot day.

Another dessert with continental suave are these Raisin Banana Custard Tarts. And these, we might add, are also wonderful on a hot day. Especially if you've ever struggled to serve neat wedges of custardy pie with the hot sun beating it down. Tart shells can be made in advance and frozen. You can even find them all baked and carefully packaged in most markets now.

With really hot weather right around the corner, you might give some thought to other desserts that help round out light meals. Raisin coffee cakes, for example. They're almost always appropriate for dessert as well as for breakfast. The raisins keep these sweet breads moist and fresh through many a dry spell. Many of these cakes are good with both whipped cream and ice cream, and we can't think of one that isn't a big hit with any combination of ripe fresh fruit.

Frozen Raisin Tortoni

A genuine Italian tortoni, rich with custard and whipped cream. Roisins, macaroons and wine help make it a frozen confection.

- ½ cup California seedless raisins
- 1½ tablespoons sherry
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup almond macaroon crumbs
- 1 cup whipping cream

Chop raisins lightly and mix with sherry. Separate egg; combine lightly beaten egg yolk and milk. Stir in sugar mixed with gelatin and salt. Cook over very low heat, stitrring constantly, until mixture coats spoon. Remove from heat; add macaroon crumbs, and let stand until cool. Beat egg white stuff. With same beater, beat cream until stiff. Fold egg white and cream intto cooled custard. Fold in raisins and sherry. Turn intto shallow pan or individual molds. Freeze without sttirring until firm. Makes 6 servings (about 1 quart).

Raisin Banana Custard Tarts

Best eat your pie in the form of tarts in very hot weather. Try these with bananas and raisins in a smooth custard cream.

- 1 cup California seedless
- ¾ cup sugar
- 4 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups half and half
- 3 egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 4 small bananas
- 10 baked (3-inch) tart shells

Chop raisins coarsely. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt and half and half. Cook, stitrring, over moderate heat until mixture begins to thicken. Continue cooking over low heat about 15 minutes until smooth and thick. Carefully stir in beaten egg yolks. Add butter and cook 3 or 4 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla and raisins. Cool. Beat ½ cup cream until stitff; fold into cold custard. Slice 3 bananas intto tart shells. Top with raisin custard. Chill until ready to serve. Beat remaining cream until stiff; swirl through pastry tube to decorate tarts. Cut remaining banana into 10 slices; garnish each tart with 1 slice. Make 10 tarts.

Try Bologna Barbecued

Bologna is one of the most neglected meats in the market.

Too often, it is used just as liaison between two pieces of bread. But it has a variety of other talents, and may be served as the main course of an outdoor meal. When purchased by the piece, rather than sliced, it has an entirely different flavor, and takes beautifully to spit-barbecuing. Furthermore, it is one of the most economical ways to serve a crowd — an important consideration these days.

It can be grilled whole, as shown here, or it may be cut into thick slices and cooked over coals. It may also be cut in squares and threaded on skewers, alternately with green pepper squares and pineapple chunks.

Here's the recipe for barbecued bologna — a new approach to an old favorite:

BARBECUED BOLOGNA

- 1 large piece bologna, 3½ lbs.
- 1-3 cup honey
- 1-3 cup catsup
- 1-3 cup orange juice
- 1-3 cup cider vinegar
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet (bottled browning souce)

Remove casing from bologna and lightly score the outside in diamond pattern. Place in container and cover with a mixture of remaining ingredients. Cover and refrigerate for several hours, turning once or twice. Drain and save marinade. Balance on spit and anchor with holding forks. Start spit and broil about four inches from moderate heat for about 45 minutes, or until heated through. Brush with marinade. Serve in thick slices with salad; or serve on buns. Makes 14 servings.

New Tricks For Skewer Feasts Told

Skewer cookery has a long and glorious history. It had its beginnings back in the dawn of history, when Asian nomads strung meats and vegetables on a stick, and cooked them over a campfire; it is currently in favor as one of the easiest, most effective, and most adaptable ways to cook meat and vegetables over an open fire.

Almost any combination of meat, fruit and vegetables may be skewered. A skewered dish may serve as appetizer, main dish, or — without the meat — even dessert. Skewers may be slender bamboo slivers, massive sword-like shafts of stainless steel, or a simple broken green twig. Skewer cookery is nothing if not versatile, adapting to any mood and almost any menu.

In general, meats to be cooked on skewers are marinated for several hours or longer, depending on the tenderness of the meat. Vegetables may be brushed with butter or dipped in the marinade. As a rule, three items are strung together on a skewer — usually a meat and two vegetables which are different in color and taste. Rice is the usual accompaniment.

Although tomato wedges, green peppers and onions are perhaps the most common vegetables for skewer cookery, many others are good choices: eggplant, zucchini or other squash, fresh or canned whole mushroom crowns, or whole canned potatoes. Fruit can also be skewered, for an unusual accent. Good choices are pineapple chunks, mandarin orange sections, and bananas.

Any kind of meat may be skewered: beef, lamb, pork, poultry or seafood. Meat combinations are good, too, when care is taken to balance flavor and texture.

If you've never tried a skewered pork combination grilled over charcoal, here's a delicious new recipe, developed especially for National Barbecue Month. It is adapted from a South African recipe, and features an unusual hot, sweet and spicy marinade well laced with Kitchen Bouquet.

SASATIES

- 2 pounds boned lean shoulder of pork
- 1 can (12-oz.) apricot nectar
- 1 can (6 oz.) BinB broiled mushroom crowns, drained
- 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet (bottled browing sauce)
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 2 tablespoons mild curry powder
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 2 dashes Tabasco

Cut pork into 1½-inch cubes, discarding any excess fat. Place in shallow container, cover with mixture of remaining ingredients and refrigerate overnight. Remove from marinade and thread on 4 skewers with drained mushroom crowns. Reserve mushroom broth for use in soup, sauce or gravy. Broil slowly over moderate heat, turning and basting several times with marinade, for about 45 minutes, or until done. Snip into a piece of meat to test — there should be no pinkness left. Makes 4 servings.

Mayonnaise Blends City Island Dip

Learn to cook artichokes properly and you'll never regret it. Here we go making promises again. But honestly, the artichoke is sometimes mistreated. We entreat you to do your best by this epicurean vegetable.

First, take the time to prepare artichokes the appropriate way before cooking. After washing in cold water, cut off the stem at the base so that the artichoke sits up straight. Pull off any small bottom leaves and, if they are coarse, a few of the large leaves at the base. With a kitchen scissors, cut off the thorny tip of each leaf; this gives the artichoke a decoratively trim appearance.

Second, the cooking. Stand the artichokes upright in a kettle into which they fit rather snugly. Now, don't drown the artichokes in water! Add only enough to come up 2 or 3 inches in the pan. Add ¼ teaspoon salt for each artichoke and 1 tablespoon of olive oil for every 2 artichokes. The olive oil gives the artichoke leaves a wonderfully glossy appearance and some of the good flavor of the oil rubs off on the leaves.

Gently boil the artichokes, covered, for 35 to 45 minutes — the time depending on whether they are small, medium or large. Test for doneness by sticking the sharp tines of a kitchen fork into the base — if you can pierce it easily, the artichoke is done. Another test is to see whether a leaf or two at the base pulls out easily.

The last step is also important. Drain the artichokes, then turn them upside down to drain some more. Serve the artichokes hot with browned butter or Hollandaise sauce.

Or serve the artichokes chilled with a well-seasoned mayonnaise dip. If you want to season the dip a new way, you'll be interested in the following recipe. A friend of ours tasted this mayonnaise at a restaurant on New York City's City Island where it was offered with cold shrimp. She was so enamored of the concoction that she coaxed the recipe from the chef. At home our friend tried it with cold artichokes and found it excellent in this combination. Still later she discovered that the it made a superb accompaniment to the cold artichokes plus chilled poached fresh salmon on a buffet-supper pwatter.

City Island Mayonnaise Dip

- 1 tablespoon prepared Dijon mustard
- 2 tablespoons cognac
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon minced scallion
- Dash each of salt and tabasco
- 6 to 8 artichokes, cooked and chilled

In a small bowl, stir together the mustard and cognac. Add the mayonnaise, scallion, salt and tabasco; mix thoroughly. Chill for a few hours or longer to allow flavors to blend. Serve as a dip with the artichokes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Crescents Of Almond

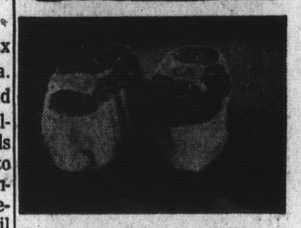
Homemade cookies such as "Almond Crescents" aren't any trouble to prepare, and they'll certainly reinforce your reputation as a baker. Very finely chopped almonds provide delicious flavor in these simple cookies, which could also be shaped into rings, pretzels or initials. An easy way to glamorize ice cream sundaes on a warm day is to sprinkle the tops with sliced almonds—elegant and appetizing!

ALMOND CRESCENTS

- ½ cup butter of margarine, softened
- ½ cup powdered sugar
- ½ teaspoon olmond extract
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1¼ cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup very finely chopped almonds

Cream butter with sugar; mix in almond extract and vanilla. Sift flour with salt and blend into butter mixture. Mix in almonds. Roll into ½-inch strands about 4 inches long; shape into crescents or rings. Bake on ungreased cooky sheet at 350 degrees 10 to 12 minutes or until bottom is lightly browned. Cool on rack.

Makes about 30 cookies.



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef shank cross cuts.

Q. Where do they come from? How are they identified?

A. They are small pieces, about two inches long, made by cutting across the bones of the fore shank. Thus, they are a tapering almost round shaped cut with a cross section of the shank bone and a good percentage of meat.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. They may be cooked in liquid, as for soup, or they may be braised, usually with vegetables. To use them for soup, cover with water, cover utensil tightly and cook slowly for 2 to 3 hours. Add vegetables and cook until they are done. To braise, brown the meat first, season and add not more than ½ cup of liquid and cook until tender. Add vegetables before meat is done. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if desired.

Polynesian Pork Chops 'Pressured'

MANY ARE the virtues of a well-designed pressure cooker, and many a hurry-up cook sings its praises.

Besides all the tried-and-true dishes that may be pressure-cooked, adventurous cooks keep coming up with new combinations and all sorts of unusual ideas.

For example, we had never though of using a presssure cooker for a Polynesian-type dish — pork chops, pinneapple and a soy-flavored sauce — until a friend passed along the following recipe. You, too, may be interested in trying it.

What to serve when this main dish is on the menu? You might start off with Eggdrop or Wonton Soup. With the Polynesian Pork Chops, offer steamed rice. After this main course, perhaps a bean sprout salad—bean sprouts marinated in French dressing and served on romaine. For dessert, a bouquet of ice cream — vanilla, pistachio and chocolate flavors make an attractive combination.

Polynesian Pork Chops

- 4 one-inch thick rib pork chops
- 2 tablespoons salad (not olive) oil
- 2 tablespoons dried minced (instant) onion
- ½ medium green pepper, thinly sliced
- 1 can (8½ ounces) sliced pineapple
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pe, per
- ⅛ teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- ½ cup condensed beef broth (bouillon), undiluted

Cornstarch, cold water, soy sauce

Have meatman "butterfly" each chop: The bone should be cut away, the meat sliced (but not all the way through), opened and flattened.

Heat pressure cooker; add oil; add chops and brown on both sides. Stir in onion and green pepper; cook lightly. Arrange chops and pineapple in 4 alternate layers, beginning with the chops.

In a small bowl, stir together the salt, pepper, ginger and mustard; gradually stir in the syrup from the sliced pineapple, then the beef broth. Pour over layered pineapple and chops.

Close cover of cooker and cook 8 minutes. Let pressure drop of its own accord.

Remove pineapple and chops to heated platter; keep warm. Use the liquid in the cooker for a sauce: Thicken the liquid with cornstarch (made into a smooth paste with a little cold water) and add soy sauce to taste. The amount of liquid in the pan varies; as a general guide, to about ½ cup liquid use 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ cup cold water and 1 tablespoon soy sauce. To increase liquid, add beef broth and pineapple juice. Makes 4 servings.

DE LUXE WAY

Mandarin beef roast barbecue is a de luxe way with popular California chuck. Marinate 3 to 4-pound chuck roast 24 hours in mixture of 1 cup each soy sauce and orange marmalade, 2 minced cloves garlic, 1 teaspoon ginger and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Grill over low coals, turning frequently and basting with marinade 40 minutes, until brown 'n' crusty outside, rare 'n' juicy inside. Makes 6 servings.

Glazed Pork Loin Roast Is Elegant Sunday Meal

An elegant Sunday dinner can star pork loin roast presented festively in a setting of fruit slices and sugar glaze. For appearance and appetizing aroma.

From the three types of pork loin roasts, select the center cut for this recipe, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority. Rib bones are left in the roast but have the retailer remove the backbone before roasting.

Make certain the meat is roasted on a rack in a shallow pan so the meat does not rest in its drippings. The roast weighs around five pounds and will take approximately three hours roasting time.

Glazed Pork Loin Roast

4 to 5-pound center cut pork loin roast
1 large orange, sliced
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons vinegar

Have backbone removed from loin. Place roast, fat sideup, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer in center of largest muscle so that it does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees F. allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound or about 3 hours for roasting. Remove from oven. Cut orange slices in half. Combine sugar, flour and vinegar. Mix well. Make a cut through fat covering about 1 inch into roast as for carving. Spread sugar mixture over meat. Insert half slices of orange, rind edge up, between slices of meat. Return roast to oven 10 to 15 minutes or until glaze is set. 6 to 8 servings.

Sherry Special For Summer Service

As summer temperatures really soar to record heights, take off an afternoon — NOW — and prepare an "instant" party for the group who will surely drop in unexpectedly sometime this summer. When they do stop by on a hot afternoon, tired and hungry, surprise them with a sumptuous summer selection of cool, delectable treats which you can whip up in literally a few minutes. Have your party cooked and neatly tucked away in freezer, pantry and refrigerator.

A suggested menu starts with a shrimp cocktail to be served buffet fashion around the outdoor bar with cool, refreshing drinks. The soup course, to be served at the barbecue table is an ice cold tomato clam broth. The main dish may be an elegant variety of cold meat sandwiches in attractive party shapes, a selection of sandwich spreads and relishes and cold, fresh garden vegetables with your own special sauce. The only part of the meal you'll cook at party time is the coffee which may be served hot — or iced — with ice cream sundaes for dessert.

To avoid the expense and bother of stocking an outdoor bar, start your "unscheduled" party with Spanish sherry cocktails. A two-bottle bar — one fino (dry) and one oloroso (less dry) — will satisfy all taste preferences. Imported sherries may be served at room temperature, chilled or on the rocks and make perfect aperitifs. For those who prefer their drinks mixed, Spanish sherries may be used to replace other liquors in most cocktail recipes. If your unexpected company is a large, especially thirsty group, you can easily whip up a Sherry Cooler Punch which is quick, easy and inexpensive to prepare . . . provides a robust thirst quencher that's sure to please.

From the list of ingredients needed to prepare your instant party, check off the items you already have on hand. The unchecked items will make up your shopping list. ( ) 1 pound medium sized cocktail shrimp — fresh or frozen; ( ) 1 jar seafood cocktail sauce; ( ) 1 jar tobasco sauce; ( ) ½ pound roast beef, sliced thin; ( ) ½ pound boiled ham, sliced thin; ( ) ½ pound cooked chicken, sliced thin (from pre-cooked chicken roll); ( ) 1 white bread; ( ) jar vinegar; ( ) 1 quart ice cream; ( ) 1 quart sherbet; ( ) 1 quart frozen strawberries or any other frozen fruit.

If fresh shrimp are preferred, cook in the usual manner, clean and shell, being careful not to overcook. When the cooked, cleaned shrimp have throughly cooled off, drain all excess moisture, wrap in airtight plastic bags and place in your freezer.

Oysterettes that have been on hand for some time will remain fresh in unopened cartons. However, if necessary, they may be recrisped by placing them in a warm oven for 5 to 10 minutes.

The soup ingredients — tomato and clam juice and tobasco — may be quickly iced if they haven't been refrigerated, by pouring the juices over ice cubes, stirring until cold, and then removing the remaining cubes.

Prepare the sandwiches in advance, wrap them securely in air tight packages and freeze.

Ice cream is a favorite summer dessert. For party appearance, premold ice cream and sherbet servings into attractive shapes. Cover the unmolded dessert with a spoonful of frozen strawberries which have been thawed under warm water. For special occasions, add a drop of cognac and flambe.

Remember your pre-party cooked meal comes to the table without eleborate preparation, with only the coffeepot on the stove. And think of the dish-washing you save! Like the Boy Scouts, voice your motto this summer! Be prepared!

Lemon Green Beans for A Patio Meal

Lemon green beans give zest to your patio meal.

LEMON GREEN BEANS

1 pound young snap beans, tipped
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup olive oil
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
½ teaspoon crushed dry thyme
Juice of 1 medium lemon (2 generous tablespoons)

Gently boil the whole beans, covered, with the boiling water and salt until tender-crisp—about 10 minutes. Drain. In a shallow container, mix together the remaining ingredients; mix in beans. Cover and chill for several hours or overnight, turning beans a few times. Remove garlic before serving. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BEEF ROAST

Roasts of California beef are top favorites with western cooks. During the barbecue season cook them on a spit over charcoal. Insert a meat thermometer to tell you when the beef is done to your taste. Recommended oven cooking temperature for most roasts is 325 degrees F. Tenderloin and rib eye roasts may be cooked at higher temperatures, if desired. Allowing roasts to "set" 15 to 30 minutes before carving makes for attractive slices.

Meat Ball Loaf Is Delight for Young

Here's the most ingenious idea for a meat loaf that we've come upon in a long time. Meat balls are baked atop the loaf.

You may be as amused by this notion as we were when we tried the recipe. And you may, once in a while, find it fun to do some amusing cooking preparation.

But this recipe also has practical advantages. Although made from the same good beef mixture, the meat balls and meat loaf really do taste different from each other. That's because the meat balls are fairly small and get crusty all around. The youngsters in your family may be quite delighted if you give them a chance at the meatballs before they go on to enjoying slices of the loaf.

And still another advantage. The meat balls may be removed and served at one meal — say with spaghetti. Then the loaf may be refrigerated and served cold, or it may be sliced and reheated in butter in a skillet, for another meal. If this way appeals to you, after removing the meat balls and onion slices, just slather the catchup topping over the bare places to make the top of the meat loaf look as if it had never been touched.

MEAT-BALL MEAT LOAF

- 1 large egg
- ½ cup milk
- 1½ cups soft bread bread crumbs, crusts removed
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1½ pounds ground chuck beef
- ¼ cup minced scallion (green onion), tops included
- 4 thin slices from center of a small onion
- ¼ cup catchup
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- Green pepper squares (about 1 inch) and pitted or stuffed olives for garnish, if desired

In a medium mixing bowl, beat the egg enough to combine yolk and white; add milk and beat to combine. Stir in the break crumbs, salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon of the worcestershire sauce; let stand until bread crumbs absorb the milk. Add beef and scallions; with a fork, beat until thoroughly blended.

Using a ¼-cup measure for each, shape 4 meat balls; reserve. Tightly pack remaining beef mixture into an oiled loaf pan (about 8x4x3 inches); turn out onto an oiled shallow baking pan (11x7x1¼ inches). Place an onion slice at each end of the loaf; stagger the other 2 slices of onion in the center. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 15 minutes; remove from oven. Place a meat ball on each onion slice; insert a short metal skewer through top of each meat ball to keep in place.

Return to the hot (400 degrees) oven; continue to bake for 30 minutes. (Meanwhile mix the remaining ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce with the catchup and mustard). Remove the meat loaf from the oven again; spoon catchup mixture over meat balls and meat loaf and spread evenly with a small spatula. Return to the hot (400 degrees) oven for 10 minutes.

With 2 wide spatulas or pancake turners, remove meat loaf to serving platter. Remove skewers from meat balls. If garnish is used, use toothpicks to top each meat ball with a square of green pepper and an olive.

Note: If you don't want to bother measuring the bread crumbs, 3 slices (with crusts removed) from a thinly sliced loaf (1 pound and containing 20 slices) will make the 1½ cups called for.

Stuffed Celery Is Tasteful

It's confetti time. Wedding bells will be ringing out all over. Parties for the bride and bridegroom are here. . .

But those parties have changed from the days when a hostess dreaded entertaining because preparations had to be elabrate. Informality is definitely "in."

You don't have to get out the punch bowl — or borrow one. A pitcher (or pitchers) of iced tea —spiked if you like — given fresh flavor with lemon, lime and orange will be enjoyed by everyone. Dips and spreads and crackers, olives and nuts and other snacks can accompany the tea.

For a snack you may not have thought of, here's stuffed celery. The filling is made with the peanut butter that's different—the sort that is embellished with smoky-flavor crisp little nuggets. If you own an epergne, you might use it for the celery and fill the top tier with grapes, strawberries or cherries.

CRUNCHY STUFFED CELERY

- 1-3 cup peanut butter with smoky crisps
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon pickle relish
- 8 (each about 4 inches long) celery pieces

In a small bowl, thoroughly mix together the peanut butter, mayonnaise and pickle relish. Stuff into celery pieces. Cover and chill until serving time.

Creamy Stuffed Celery — Follow recipe for Crunchy Stuffed Celery, substituting 3 tablespoons commercial sour cream for the mayonnaise and pickle relish.

Spicy Stuffed Celery — Follow recipe for Crunchy Stuffed Celery, substituting 2 tablespoon cream cheese and 2 tablespoons hot catchup for the mayonnaise and pickle relish.

Note: If the celery needs crisping, throw it into salted ice water and let it stand for 15 minutes or so. Then drain and dry thoroughly before stuffing. White celery is best for stuffing; and for a pretty effect, wherever possible, leave some of the leaves on one end of the pieces.

COTTAGE CHEESE

Serve a raspberry "sundae" salad to a fascinated family. Scoop a mound of cottage cheese onto a crunchy cross-cut raft of western iceberg lettuce. Spoon sugared raspberries over and crust with dairy sour cream and a pecan.

Cal-Wide Enterprises Plan New Pizza Hut

THE CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW PIZZA HUT in San Carlos has been announced by Ted Long, president of Cal-Wide Enterprises, developers of Pizza Huts in California. The new restaurant, to be located at 366 El Camino Real, will be the fifth of its kind in California, and the newest link in a nation-wide chain. Frank F. Otto, San Mateo building contractor, is handling the construction of the new $60,000 facility. Set to open on Tuesday, August 23, the modern exterior encloses a "red checkered tablecloth atmosphere" with natural brick interior, hurricane lanterns and matching decor. There will be seating for 75 guests and a separate carry-out counter. Off-street parking will be provided for almost 20 cars. The Pizza Hut will be open seven days a week from 11 a.m. Angeleo Priolo, with the organization since 1964, has been named manager of the branch . . . Taste tip at Plateau 7 in San Jose: General manager Andre Gubbels newly added dish, "Poulet En Cocotte Flambe Mephisto." $8.65 (for two).

JULIE LONDON, the flashy-eyed beauty of films, TV and the nation's top clubs, opens a one-week engagement at Cal Neva Lodge July 25. Torn between two loves, acting and singing, Julie brings her boundless talents into the Celebrity Room backed by Matty Malneck's spectacular show band. Yonely, the International musical humorist, has been held over during the Julie London run and brings his piano, banjo, drums, accordion, bass, guitar and mandolin to the Cal Neva stage with a unique, refreshing talent coupled with an extraordinary gift for pantomime. Gene Austin appears nightly in the Cal Neva Lodge Lounge. . . . "Bottoms Up," the successful comedy revue that is breaking all daytime attendance records in Las Vegas, is drawing such large audiences to every performance that Hotel Thunderbird officials have been forced to cancel all days off for cast members. Understudies are being trained to fill in when a day off is needed.

FUN AND FROLIC are definitely in fashion at Bill Gilbert's Tiger Club at the Airport, as top-notch entertainment fills the atmosphere with sounds of dancing feet, song, rapid-fire comedy, and audience laughter. Sharing the marquee along with all of Bill's shapely Tiger Kittens, Monday night, will be the Rovin' Kind, another zany musical comedy group. Managed by handsome Steve Tsiptsis, who is quite a singer himself, the Tiger is open seven days a week from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. . . . The cocktail hour at the new Monty's on Montgomery at Washington has become a meeting place for the financial district crowd because of its beautiful cocktail lounge, convenient location and excellent food. Banquet rooms are also available to give you that extra ultra service for your party. Monty's is one of San Francisco's most elegant restaurants. Owners Gordon, Frank and Joe Morawietz invite you to try their house specialty—combination Lobster Tail and Steak or Filet Mignon dinner, at prices we all can afford. . . .

YOU CAN USUALLY MEASURE THE SUCCESS of a restaurant and night club by the loyalty of the salaried help. Bill Smith of El Rancho Palo Alto is proud of his top-notch staff and the many years they have been with him. Cocktail waitress Mary Cobb has notched five years, - dining room hostess Zelma Robinson is a seven-year employee and Bruce Webb has been bar manager six years. Other long-timers are day barman Johnny Ballard and chef Don Waterman . . . ! San Francisco's Gold Street is available for private cocktail parties. The upper balcony overlooking the activities can be observed, and the generous drinks are still only 60 cents . . . Seen joining the merriment around the pianobar at Fred and Jerry Rapp's swank Holiday Inn, last Monday night, was June Mayberry, lovely hostess of South San Francisco's popular New Southern restaurant. Bandleader Gary Long has added a couple of new faces to the bandstand for the Friday and Saturday night dinner-dancing—bass player Mickey McPhillips and drummer Kenny Williams. . . .

AFTER HEARING MRS. MILLER sing a few songs during an excellent performance at the Sahara-Tahoe, I can see the return to the big-time nitery scene and personal television appearances for Pacifica's Mary Ann Hay, who, not so many years ago, was a sparkling singing star in her own right. This spirited gal, who attends the check room at Nick Gust's Nick's restaurant in Rockaway Beach, has what it takes to rock an audience with pop tunes as well as yesterday's big hits. Drop in Nick's some Friday or Saturday p.m. for dinner or cocktails and hear Mary Ann sing, along with the Del Carlo Combo—you'll see what I mean. . . . If you like to barbecue, you'll love eating at Rudolfo's in Palo Alto, where you can now barbecue your own steak exactly the way you like it. You don't have to worry about the weather being nice any longer, have that party over for a barbecue right at Rudolfo's. Another thing, you don't have to worry about cleaning up the mess afterwards—it's all done for you.

Mary Ann Hay

'Hot Rod Races' Friday and Saturday

This being an entertainment column, with all types of evening fun to be mentioned, have a thrill of your life (and your own, if you try to cross the street) while strolling down El Camino Real any Friday or Saturday from 8 p.m. and watch the "hot rod races." All makes of cars are entered — with speed no object. Sunday through Thursday seems to be the trial events. But, lo and behold, Friday and Saturday evenings are the "run for the roses."

A favorite French restaurant for countless Peninsula and San Francisco diners is the Burlingame La Touraine, where the "Cuisine of France" is prepared with culinary finesse and served in a "Frenchy" atmosphere that matches the menu. Cocktails and mixed drinks, plus a large selection of wines and champagne.

A popular feature at Phil Lehr's Steakery is their outside catering service for all sorts of parties and dinners. Phil's Wellington Steak is well liked at these affairs.

Wedding Party Enjoys Gourmet Table's Buffet Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Mrava were recent hosts at a gala wedding reception in the Topaz Room of the Gourmet Table following the 1 p.m. wedding at St. Andrews Lutheran Church of their daughter Cynthia Jean Mrava to Mr. Allen Lee Rasmussen, all of San Mateo. Fifty guests enjoyed a sit-down buffet dinner and champagne followed by the cutting of a beautifully tiered wedding cake.

'Off and Running' At Vince's Seafood

"Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here" is the theme at Vince's Seafood and Italian Restaurant. Vacation days are over for this busy crew and all are back in action. The countless steady luncheon and dinner patrons, plus many new faces, are packing the restaurant daily. Noticed Joe Cohen and "Doc" Ward, the Bay Meadows major domos, enjoying a lusty seafood spread, the other evening, as was your Bright Lighter.

"You Asked For It," so now New Tivoli chef Primo Pichetti packs those delicious handmade raviolis to take out, all ready to cook and enjoy at home. Seventy-five cents buys a generous size carton.

Marina steakman Lew Lehr has an idea how to improve movies; shoot more actors and less film.

Shopping advice from Pacifica's Enrico Romano: "Never buy anything with a handle on it. It means work."

Thunderous Applause For Freddy Wheeler Finocchio's Comic

Riotous Freddy Wheeler, one of the greatest monologists of the post-World War II era, has returned to Finocchio's famous nightclub of female impersonators, and has been going over with resounding success.

In the manner of the famed Dwight Fiske, Freddy is titillating audiences nightly with "Mrs. Pettibone" and other notable routines. Wheeler had taken a temporary retirement from show business to attend to other interests. But with the demand for high-level comics, he accepted Joe Finocchio's inducements to return to the footlights. And that's a big break for the fans of high comedy, who are welcoming him back with thunderous applause.

It's show time in the Paris tradition at Larry Shulman's Edgemar Club down Pacifica way every Wednesday through Sunday, where a host of female impersonators literally "bring the house down" every night with their pantomimic abilities.

No parking problems inside or outside of Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. A great place to take your out-of-town guests for an evening of fine dining. Prime rib and steaks are house specialties.

Monday was a big night for the Sinaloa: Clarita, the South American dance sensation made a return engagement to this world famed cantina on Powell Street.

Phyliss Torre Hostess

Phyliss Torre, well-known Peninsula entertainer, has entered a new field—and one that should prove no problem to her many talents. Now dining room hostess at the Adobe Creek Lodge in Los Altos, Phyliss invites her many friends and friends-to-be to stop in and enjoy the comforts and food that this smart lodge affords.

HYATT HOUSE BULLETIN

What's new at the Hyatt House? You know we're always improving.

This time it's the Tourney Room Cocktail Lounge. No we didn't ruin that intimate, sexy atmosphere. As a matter of fact, we've just added more of it. Gave Rosemarie, Bob and Vickie more of an audience to play to. Gave Carol, Suzy and Norma more customers to serve, and we did it with you in mind.

We're sorry we kept you standing for so long, now maybe you can find a place to sit and enjoy those man-sized drinks that have made the Tourney Room a favorite meeting spot on the Peninsula.

Bruno Ruling Is Supported

The San Bruno City Council last night supported City Manager Gerald Ver geer's dismissal of Douglas Dawkins, former assistant recreation superintendent.

An appeal of the action taken earlier by the city's Personnel Board of Review was heard by the council at a special meeting two weeks ago.

At that time, the council accepted arguments from both sides and said a decision would be made at the next council meeting.

Of the 11 charges listed against Dawkins, the Board struck four and accepted the remaining seven as justification for dismissal from his post.

Dawkins' attorney, George Corey, said the matter was "being carefully studied" in the light of the council's recent action.

This is the practice followed by the Army, Navy and all government tide tables and almanacs.

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

Times and heights of tides at San Mateo Bridge, California. Furnished by Marine Exchange, Inc., from Coast and Geodetic Survey Data. Half Moon Bay tide 2 hours and 10 minutes earlier.

The columns at heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey Chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey).

Flurry of D.C. Recreation Activity

. As the Daly City Recreation Department's summer program passes the halfway mark, local playgrounds and parks have been featuring activities such as bike days, tournaments, cookouts and softball leagues.

Penny carnivals are being held today, Thursday and Friday at Marchbanks, Westmoor and Westlake Parks.

The carnivals, held traditionally every summer, bring a touch of the old circus spirit to Daly City, with goldfish booths, Clown Chuck, barrel toss and many more prize earning and fun activities. Next week youngsters will bid farewell to the Daly City summer fog for a trip to Marin Town and Country Club. Weekly trips are rounded out by a full program of specialist and playground activities, including:

VISTA GRANDE SCHOOL

This week at Vista Grande School much has been planned in the way of activity.

Today, a picnic and barbecue will be held. Afterward, tournaments and organized games will be arranged. A softball team, consisting of boys 12-14 and led by Captain Rick Berger and Co-captain Jim Lemke, will practice for the big game to be played next week. Last week's ping pong tournament was won by Jim Lemke. David Weible beat previous carrom champion, and now holds that title. This week a hike in the hills in back of Vista Grande will take place.

JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY

Football has been growing in popularity at "Little Jeff." R Mike Simon, Eddie Lewis and Stan Themoleas have been the most frequent players.

Even the girls join in the fun: Shirley Sanguinetti, Kathy and Jayne Ferrari, Michelle Ellingston, and Anna Rossi.

A touch football game is played every Thursday. The recent "cookies and mile" party was a great success. Over five dozen homemade cookies were eaten. Softball remains the most popular sport.

Last week the Hot Dogs defeated the Hamburgers, 57-7. Softball games go on usually every day, but the Friday game is the really big one.

FRANKFORT PARK

Last Wednesday a cookout was held at Frankfort Park before the nature study hike in the Crocker Hills. Among those attending were Robert Napoli, Steven Smith, John Dresch, and Damon Hudson. The children enjoyed the cookout so much that another one is being planned for the near future. A strikeout baseball tournament will be held Friday of this week. Everyone is invited to join in the fun and participate in this exciting tournament. Start practicing now!

LINCOLN PARK

Lincoln Park features a ping pong doubles match this week that promises to be a thriller. Last week's singles champs will undoubtedly figure heavily in the bouts.

Tony Farfan took first place in the 8-12 class, with Ira Fern placing a close second. Kenny Danridge and Harold Fields took third and fourth places respectively.

In the older group it was again a very close match. Darrall Kelly came through with another of his undefeated performances. Taking a surprise second place was Michelle Torrez, who thought she didn't have a chance, but whose strong defense proved a tough competition.

Back from vacation the Scott family is expected to start posting their name in the winning column, along with Ron Runne, who has also had a few weeks off. Unfortunately the Lincoln Park softball team split two games last week, defeating George Washington 1-0, but losing to Panorama 4-0 in ten innings. Wait 'til next week!

PANORAMA

The Panorama "South Hillbillies" softball team earned its first victory in the summer softball league. The victory was at the expense of Lincoln Park. The opposition did not, however, give the game away, for it took the hungry Hillbillies ten innings to secure the victory. Chuck Pistola got his first win in as many starts on the mound for the Hillbillies. He pitched ten innings of shutout softball and drove in one of the four runs the team scored. Pat Sullivan, the Hillbillies backstop, got four hits for five at bats to lead the team in hitting afer one game. Ruben Ortiz, Mike Macia, Mike Egipciaco, Tom Catalano, John Gradwohl and Tim and Jim Gorman had 14 hits among them. The team collected 20 hits in 50 at bats for a .400 team average and committed no errors.

The arts and crafts program has been exciting to the children at Panorama School. Nancy MacDonald, the arts and crafts instructor, has offered new ideas in crafts, plus a genuine interest in each of the children that participate. The youngsters have made name cards, note pads and colorful drinking glasses in the past meetings this summer. All the children look forward every Wednesday at 11:45 for arts and crafts at Panorama.

MIDWAY SCHOOL

Last week, Midway School held three special events. First there was a basketball game held on Tuesday, July 19. Second was a doll show held last Wednesday, and finally there was a two-man strikeout tournament held on Friday, July 22. In the basketball game the Lakers defeated the Celtics by a score of 18-6; outstanding for the Lakers were George Perry and Bill Tournay; outstanding for the Celtics were Danny Hughes and Ed Fontes. Bob Downey also played an inspirational game for the Lakers. The doll show, which drew many girls, included Donna Carter, Cindy Griffin, Jean Turnbull, Cindy Powers, Debra LaSalle, Bonnie Rhoades and Penny Quick. Strong in last Friday's strikeout tournament were Frank Orlandi, Mike Hughes, Chip Scholler and Mike Scholler. Final results were not available at press time, but will be given next week.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

The Far West Daly City Softball League opened its summer season. Among the four participating teams in the league are: George Washington, Crocker School, Lincoln Park and Panorama School. The league will run for some four weeks and close to 80 games will be played. On Friday, George Washington plans a hike day for all youngsters. This will be a supervised hike, and all are welcome to participate.

WESTLAKE SCHOOL

John and Tim Kavanagh continue to star in the playground softball games at Westlake School.

Ronnie Epro and Skip Watson have been selected captains of the "capture the flag" teams, with Ronnie's team holding a three to two game advantage so far. Mike Hartnett continues to rule the dodgeball play, with Ellen McGerity and Patty Murray close behind.

A bike rodeo will be held today, featuring special obstacle races. Prizes will be awarded to the winners. Tryouts are taking place this week for another softball team, which will play other playgrounds in the immediate area.

CROCKER SCHOOL

This week Crocker School's "Soul Brothers" softball team goes into league play with a 3-3 record. After being upset by George Washington, The Soul Brothers took both ends of a double header from Washington.

In a latter game Washington again upset the Soul Brothers, but the Crocker boys came back to gain a split in the second double header. Don Redmond has been the most valuable player so far, but Ralph Gage, George Urand and Greg Shelton showed signs of breaking out of their slumps.

This week at Crocker School, Recreation Leader Ed Larios and Aide Steve Green were the victims of Mikie Biddle in "Sorry." John Espinoza is finding it hard to find a worthy opponent in ping pong. Planned for this week is a bicycle day, with prizes for different categories. Steve Bastone and Marty Romero are this week's cleanup monitors.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

A week from tomorrow, August 4, Franklin D. Roosevelt is featuring its annual summer cookout. All the local children are inivted to bring their hot dogs, hamburgers and trimmings for this great summer barbecue.

"The FDR's" playground high school softball team, who won the Daly City championship last year, started off right where they left off last year.

Their first league game last week resulted in a win over the boys from M. Pauline Brown. Standouts from the team were Mike Ward, who looked sensational in the field and at bat, Larry Becker, Paul Romer, Jim Lacey, Steve Gillmore and Les Williams. It's going to take quite a good team to beat the "FDR's."

WESTMOOR PARK

Last Thursday Westmoor Park featured bid day, with four events on the program: bike parade, ten lap race, 25-lap race, and a consolation race. Barbara Trapp won top honors in the bike parade.

Gavin Long placed first in the time trials, with 13 seconds. Gavin also took first in the ten-lap race and second in the 25-lap race, with the help of his co-pilot Steve Murray. Martha Gonazales took second in the consolation race, while Wayne Murray was third. The team of Doug Malgen, Ed Nessel and Gust Milon defeated Steve Murray, Jim Wyatt and Ted Grey in a best two-out-of-three series to win the park's Indian baseball tournament.

Tomorrow, tournament day will be held at 1 p.m. Tournaments will include checkers, ping pong, paddle pool, carroms and ring-a-tac-toe.

PALISADES PARK

Another exciting week at Palisades Park saw a croquet tournament and a castle building contest for the younger children. Joe Adair took top honors in a very close croquet tournament, with Bill Edwards taking second; Paul Quibell and Joey Crocenzi tied for third.

Fourth place was captured by Mario Paoloni and Peter Quibell. Julie Jiming took first place in the castle building contest, with Dan Paua taking second. The boys' softball team bounced back after two losses last week to Vista Mar to stage a come from behind act, beating Vista Mar in a double header. The team is scheduled to play Marchbanks on Friday.

Harry Hampton is providing the power and hits, with eight home runs and a .785 average. Joey, playing catcher, is batting .545; second baseman Tim O'Meara is currently at .571, Dan McVeigh .381, Tom Papageorge .639, Steve Wohl .333, Steve Carmen .500, Mike Cusilage, .400, Steve Mueler .571, Kevin McVeigh .500, and Joe Adair .750.

VISTA MAR

The summer recreation program at Vista Mar is in full swing now, offering games, tournaments and special events for all ages. There are organized games for children 6-9 years of age, until about 1 p.m. every day. These games include Steal the Bacon, Robin in the Forest, and Charade, as well as the old favorite Streets and Alleys. Boys between the ages of 10-15 can participate in an organized softball team which competes against many of the other playgrounds in Daly City. This boys' team has been very successful so far this season. The girls' team, for ages 10-15, competes against either playgrounds also.

OUR LADY OF MERCY

Tomorrow Our Lady of Mercy has scheduled a carrom tournament. Steve Becker will attempt to defend his position as champion against some very stiff contenders, such as Mark Racette, Mark Staver, Rory Poblitz and Maureen Bennett. Everyone is invited to test his skill; the tournament begins at 3 p.m.

WAR MEMORIAL BUILDING

Bill Gregory and Bruce Davidson of the Tornados are proud of having won the wiffle ball tournament. Gary Lindsay and Joe Thursh of the Eagles took runner up position. The War Memorial Building's Chess League now has a small, but determined nucleus. Brian Stanley, Shelia Craig and Panny Ayala head the steadily growing league.

The small girls' oddball volleyball league now rivals their older counterparts in league participation. Coach Shelia Craig and Danny Ayala report that Jean Hopman, Carol Thursh and Laura Murphy deserve special mention for outstanding performance.

Man Arrested On Drug Count

Harold A. Deaton, 22, has been arrested and charged with possession of dangerous drugs after South San Francisco police officer Miff Singleton found him passed out in a parked car.

Officer Singleton said Deaton, of 1882 Farm Bureau Road, Concord, at first appeared to be under the influence of alcohol and while processing him at the police station discovered the drugs in his pocket.

Pacifica Mother Smells Smoke, Family Saved

A Pacifica mother smelled smoke Saturday morning, and possibly saved her family from what firemen reported could have been a disastrous fire.

Investigators said Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keller of 636 Firecrest Drive, were preparing for bed when Mrs. Keller smelled smoke about 2:20 a.m.

Firemen summoned to the scene confined the blaze to a portion of the attached garage, where they said the fire had apparently started in a plastic garbage can.

The flames had spread to furniture and newspapers nearby, and burned a portion of the steps leading into the house.

Damage was confined to the garage, firemen said, and neither the Kellers nor their two young children suffered any harm.

The blaze followed by half a day another close call.

Firemen were called to 7 Acacia Court at noon Thursday, where they found the house filled with smoke. The lady of the house told them she had vacuumed her fireplace, then gone out. When she returned she found the machine smouldering in a downstairs bedroom.

Aside from the ruined vacuum cleaner, firemen siad, damage was confined to the effects of the smoke.

It was fortunate, they said, that the lady came home when she did.

Even as that fire was being mopped up, another was reported, at 1266 Alicante. Firemen blamed it on grease accumulated in a kitchen range. Damage was confined to the range itself.

Firemen also answered a call to 1028 Zamora; a car on fire there was quickly extinguished.

Another call yesterday afternoon sent trucks to a vacant lot at 127 Manor Drive, where grass was afire between two stores.

Bruno Police Arrest Trio In Car Theft

San Bruno police arrested three men Saturday night and charged them with auto theft following a lengthy foot race and speedy car chase through the city.

Off-duty San Mateo County deputy sheriff Robert Outman spotted the trio attempting to push a late model Cadillac out of Bart's Used Car lot on 200 El Camino Real shortly after 10 p.m. Saturday night.

As he identified himself and asked what they were doing, two men jumped into a car parked at curbside and sped off down the highway while the remaining man ran down another street on foot.

San Bruno police officers Hal Buckhol and Cecil Harrell happened by the scene, and gave chase to the man on foot, while Outman raced after the car.

Arrested were Albert Willias, 26, of 151 Middle Point Road, William Bell, 26 of 452 Fell Street, and Lionell Clark, 19, of 624 Redwood Street, all of San Francisco.

Waiting for housing prices to come down?

By 1970, they may be 20% higher than today.

Every buyer would like to see lower prices for a change. But will he? Check the record.

House prices in California cities have gone up about 15% since 1958, says the U.S. Department of Labor. Now they're rising faster. Local authorities estimate that increasing labor and materials costs are adding about $1,000 a year to the price of a $20,000 house.

At this rate, the price level could easily be far higher than today by 1970. And what is to hold it down? Newcomers keep flocking to California, bidding against each other for a spot in the sun. New suburbs, shopping centers, and business and industrial sites keep gobbling up the shrinking supply of available land.

All this, plus the inflationary impact of the Viet Nam war, points to one conclusion: the longer you wait to buy a house, the more you'll pay for it.

Waiting for interest to come down?

The recent upward tilt in mortgage rates may worry you as much as house prices. That's only natural. But what does higher interest really cost you? A typical ½% rise runs to 30¢ a month for each $1,000 you borrow on a 25-year loan. That's $6 a month on $20,000.

It's no fun paying even this much more. Yet rates may go still higher, like everything else. Many experts predict they will. A reassuring note: by buying now, you're covered against further interest hikes. That could be important protection.

Buying vs. renting: which costs less?

The equity you build up as an owner certainly beats collecting rent receipts. In addition, mortgage interest and property taxes are deductible on your Federal income tax.

And California real estate is a great hedge against inflation. In an area everybody else wants to move to, house values historically rise faster than other prices.

Available to smart shoppers: bargains

Good buys can be found today because there's never been such a great selection of houses. Many new homes can be bought with little down, and long-term loans. Many not-so-new homes offer most attractive mortgages, at interest rates below the prevailing level, in addition to good locations and lots of living space.

Security Title suggests that instead of waiting for housing prices to come down, it's more realistic to move into your own house now and watch it go up.

Your real estate broker knows the best buys in your area. His professional knowledge about values, financing, taxes, local schools and other matters can be most valuable. Look him up. With his help, you'll find that now's the time to buy!

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is malocclusion?

Malocclusion is irregularity of tooth position and poor fitting together of the teeth on closing the jaws. Such irregularity not only may interfere with chewing and with speech but also may lead to disease of the gums and other supporting structures of the teeth (periodontal disease). Malocclusion may also produce deformities of the face. Ask your Dentist about Malocclusion and its treatment if needed.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.
